Dorothy Kirsten, Here for Concert; Laments Visits Are Always Brief

By YOLANDE GWIN

Dorothy Kirsten, the blonde glamour girl of the Metropolitan, who has been called the All-American primma donna, followed her late afternoon routine of relaxation yesterday before rehearsals for tonight's opening concert of the Atlanta Symphony Guild's Fall and Winter Season.

"I've asked for 40 minutes," she said, "but Mr. Sopkin, the conductor, may need me for longer. When one sings with an orchestra, the entire personnel must be considered. We shall work it out, for after all this is Atlanta, a place I love and where I am singing my only concert this year."

Her enthusiasm over being here was as obvious as her trim ankles, her pretty face and her smart and well groomed appearance.

"I don't know why, but it seems whenever I get here, my schedule is such that I cannot stay. I am on my way to the coast where I am to make a movie, "Mr. Music," with Bing Crosby, then I have to begin rehearsals for "Manon Lescaut," which opens at the Metropolitan in November."

The famous Pucinni opera, which Miss Kirsten first studied in Italian while in Italy, will be sung in French at next month's revival season at the Met. Lucretia Bori was the last to sing it at the Met.

The Montclair, N. J., girl who was the late Grace Moore's protege, confessed that opera is her first love, yet the love of singing has been the driving force which has made for her the success she enjoys today. A case in point is the seriousness with which she took her study of the opera "Louise." She worked in France for a time with Charpentier, composer of Louise, and in order to understand the feelings of the heroine, she visited the Montmartre section of Paris, where the opera is laid.

"It's all singing, howerer," she said yesterday during her press conference at the Biltmore Hotel. "For remember I've been on the air with Crosby, Bob Hope, Al Jolson, Kate Smith and Frank Sinatra. Whether it's an aria from one of my favorite operas or the latest on the hit parade, it's singing, and I love it!"

For a singing career, Miss Kirsten thinks that everyone must keep that spirit of determination foremost in his or her mind. In most every career there is a lucky break that makes a turning point. Hers was Grace Moore.

And as a tip for the fashion conscious, the star prefers black clothes most of the time but for her concerts she likes white, blue and green. (She thinks she will wear white tonight when she sings at the auditorium.) She loves hats, the madder the better, and because she has to travel a great part of the year, she selects her clothes with with an eye toward easy packing.

And far from the buxom opera singer type usually in the minds of the public, Miss Kirsten is pencil slim, has a 25½-inch waist line and says she "eats anything." And "everything" must mean steak, for during her struggling days of study to get her foot on the ladder which was to lead to success, it was a long time between sirloins for the vibrant, healthy Miss Kirsten.

Passenger Train Runs Cut Ordered as Contract Talks Aimed at Coal Strike Sag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The government has ordered a cut in coal-burning railroad passenger service. Deadlocked contract talks affecting nearly two-thirds of the strikebound coal industry collapsed yesterday.

The Interstate Commerce Commission ordered the reduction effective at midnight Tuesday, Oct. 25. It will continue in effect two months.

Coal-burning passenger locomotives on all railroads in the nation that have a 25 or less days coal supply on hand were ordered to curtail service 25 percent.

The ICC said railroad coal stocks had reached a "dangerously low level." It added that "an emergency exists requiring immediate action in all sections of the country."

It was estimated that 25 railroads, about one-third the nation's total, had 30 days or less supply of coal on hand Oct. 1. The figure came from an official of the Association of American Railroads. He said 28 percent of all passenger locomotives burn coal, most of them operating in the East and South.

The Northern and Western mine owners broke off negotiations with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers. In a blistering statement, they said they don't want to be a party any longer to "fooling the miners and the public."

The operators said they had made they "best and final offer"—extension of the old contract. The union has turned this down flatly, several times.

The union slapped back with a charge the mine owners were trying to force government intervention.

Thomas Kennedy, UMW Vice President, said the operators were expecting Thursday to be called to Washington. "Failing to be called, they walked out like a lot of school boys who had lost their marbles," he said.

The move left some kind of government intervention as the next step—probably a mediation attempt by Conciliation Chief Cyrus S. Ching.

Ching is up to his elbows in an attempt to crack the costly nationwide steel strike. He met in New York again with the U. S. Steel Corporation in renewed efforts to settle the dispute he regards as "certainly not hopeless."

But after yesterday's session Ching reported the steel strike is "no closer to a settlement." He said Big Steel won't budge on its demand that its employees share the costs of any pension program. Ching said his talks with U. S. Steel will continue Monday.

The mediation chief also has talked with representatives of the striking CIO Steelworkers Union and other steel companies.

But the "not hopeless" statement was the best he could offer. Ching said there is no real basis for optimism at this stage.

Play My Way or Turn In Your Defense Uniform, 'Boss' Johnson's Edict

By PHILIP DODD
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Defense Secretary Johnson has served notice he is boss of America's National Defense and that anyone who doesn't play the game his way can get off the team.

Johnson, in testimony yesterday winding up the House Armed Services Committee's investigation of feuding in the Defense Department, declared he intends to make military unification work in a manner that will save money, no matter where the chips fall.

"National defense," the secretary said, "should not and will not be run in the interest either of professional seamen, professional airmen, or professional soldiers. It should and will be run solely in the interests of the American people and for the furtherance of world peace."

The inquiry was recessed until Jan. 3.

Former President Herbert Hoover, warning the committee of threatened Federal deficits, declared economy in the defense establishment is imperative.

Gen. Marshall, former Army Staff Chief and recently Secretary of State, sounded a similar note.

Johnson's remarks about his intention to rule the Defense Department were pointed up with the revelation he had fired former Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan weeks before Sullivan "resigned" over the cancellation of the Navy's proposed giant aircraft carrier.

The Sullivan matter was injected after Johnson, refuting charges made by the Navy in the investigation, said his stop order on the carrier followed two weeks of careful study and consultation with defense chiefs and President Truman.

Rep. Short, Republican, Missouri, commented that Johnson's version was not in line with Sullivan's, which held Johnson took the action without consultation and in an arbitrary manner.

"I've kept my mouth shut about this until now," Johnson declared. "I haven't said an unkind word about Mr. Sullivan, even though the press has said I was discourteous. He would not support unification. He submitted his resignation March 26 (a month before the carrier decision) and he knew it would be accepted.

"I had told Mr. Sullivan there was no room on my team on the civilian side for anyone who couldn't support unification."

Johnson took notice of recent remarks by Chairman Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, of the House Committee that he was making a "grandstand play" by ordering cuts approximating $800,000,000 in the current defense budget.

By next June 30, Johnson said, the Defense Department will be saving at the rate of $598,000,000 a year. The budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will be 13,000,000,000, compared with this year's $15,000,000,000, he said.

"If that's grandstanding, you'll have to make the most of it," the secretary asserted.

Vinson, in recessing the hearing, asked the nation to give Johnson full co-operation in his efforts to better the national defense.

LEAVING FEDERAL COURT—In New York a U. S. marshal (left) directs Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., center, once of Atlanta and New York City Councilman, and Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the American Communist Party, to prison van in Federal Building yesterday after the two, along with nine other top-ranking Communist Party leaders were sentenced to prison and fined for criminal conspiracy to teach overthrow of the U. S. Government by force.

Bond Issue For 4-Lane Road Urged

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The State Highway Department should float a multi-million-dollar bond issue and building a four-lane highway from Tennessee to Florida, Rep. Hugh McWhorter, of DeKalb County, told the State Tax Revision Subcommittee yesterday.

This was the second day the group had heard suggestions that the State borrow money to finance now the needed State services. Raymond Nelson, of Atlanta, committee member, previously urged elimination of the constitutional ban on debts so that bonds could be issued to improve schools and other services.

Former House Speaker Roy Harris, of Augusta, added his voice to the growing move toward a sales tax recommendation from the committee yesterday.

"There's only one question facing Georgians today," said Harris. "We all know what the needs are. We all know what we will have to do to get the money to take care of these needs. We all know that this answer is coming eventually. The only question is 'When will we get nerve enough to do it'?"

Dr. R. P. Brooks, economist from the University of Georgia, said it is amusing to hear the outcry of some persons against a two percent sales tax, when they pay a 30 percent gasoline tax without batting an eye. Brooks also said he saw no reason why the State shouldn't use its credit like private enterprise does to improve its facilities.

Harris and Carl Rhodes, of Quitman, a member of the committee, didn't join in support of issuing bonds, however. They preferred to keep the State on a pay-as-you-go basis.

McWhorter said gasoline taxes should be earmarked for highway construction. The Highway Department then should issue bonds to build super highways. By charging tolls to travel these highways, like some other States do, Georgia could help repay the debt.

11 Reds Draw 53 Years, $110,000 Fines; No Bail

NEW YORK—(AP)—Ten of the 11 top Communists in America, branded a menace to their country, were sent to prison for five years yesterday and fined $10,000 each.

The eleventh, Robert G. Thompson, a decorated Pacific war hero, got off with three years and a $10,000 fine.

The defendants, held without bail since their conviction a week ago yesterday, were returned to jail.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina pronounced the sentences and again refused bail.

All, a short time later, filed appeals of their convictions and sentences.

The party leaders were convicted of conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government. Their nine-months trial was one of the longest Federal criminal cases in history.

U. S. Atty. John F. X. McGohey pleaded for 10-year prison sentences. He said the "potential danger of these men is incalculable."

But Federal Judge Medina held that a change in the Smith Act, under which they were convicted, made five years the limit.

"If it wasn't for this change in the statute," the Court said, "I would be thinking in terms of more than five years."

The defendants sentenced to five years:

Eugene Dennis, 44, General Secretary of the Communist Party and one of its world leaders;

Henry Winston, Negro and organizational secretary;

John Williamson, 46, labor secretary;

Carl Winter, 43, Michigan State Chairman;

Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., 46, Negro, and New York City Councilman; (See story on Page 2).

Gilbert Green, 43, Illinois State Chairman;

Irving Potash, 46, Vice President of the CIO Fur and Leather Workers' Union;

Gus Hall, 39, Ohio State Chairman;

Jacob Stachel, 49, Education Secretary.

In sentencing Thompson to three years, Judge Medina took into consideration his war record. He won the Distinguished Service Cross as an Army Sergeant in the Pacific. Thompson, 34, is the Party's New York State Chairman.

All but Williamson, Potash and Stachel are native-born Americans. Williamson is believed to have come from Scotland. Potash and Stachel are Russian-born but grew up in this country.

North Atlanta Teen-Agers Held In Bicycle Larceny Ring Charge

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Six 'teen-agers from prominent North Atlanta homes yesterday were under investigation in what detectives described as a "Juvenile Jesse James" larceny ring preying on bicycles.

Det. Harry Williams and Sgt. I. A. Thomas said more than a dozen bicycles re-assembled from parts sold here and there, had been recovered and returned to owners. Four of the six were held in the Fulton Juvenile Detention Home, detectives said, and two were released temporarily in custody of their parents.

Thomas, who is head of the Police Juvenile Bureau, and County Juvenile authorities were continuing the investigation.

Williams, for 15 years in charge of stolen bicycles in the Police Department, noticed one of the six riding on a newly-painted bicycle on Ponce de Leon Avenue. Off duty at the time, Williams stopped to question the youth.

Oh, I gave a Negro $5 fir the bicycle," the youth replied.

Williams carried the 12-year-old to his home to question him in the presence of his parents. A second 'teen-ager rode up on a newly-painted bicycle.

"I gave a Negro $5 for it," he told the detective.

Each of the six had the same answer as to how they acquired the machines, Williams related. He added the sextet—all between the ages of 12 and 14—"knew more about the seamy side of life than most adults."

In a patrol car the six pointed out to Williams and Thomas where they took bicycles along Peachtree, Myrtle, Juniper Streets, Argonne, Ponce de Leon Avenue and Tenth Street. They said they went behind an apartment building on North Avenue to mutilate serial numbers and repaint the bikes.

Some of the bicycles were sold for as much as $12, Williams related. However, he said the youths generally took down the machines and sold a part at a time. In some instances, various parts were switched and the bicycles repainted.

The 'teen-agers employed practically the same tactics in disposing of bicycles that Jesse James Roberts, convicted auto thief, employed. Roberts walked to freedom from the Atlanta jail following his arrest here, but was apprehended a short time later.

Aside from the stolen bicycles, detectives said the youths told of discovering several illicit liquor caches around Atlanta and secretly visiting the places late at night to secure liquor. The juvenile probe includes a number of possible beatings and robberies in North Atlanta.

Cook Rules On Cobb Vote

MARIETTA—Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook yesterday upheld Cobb County Registrar Frank Wellons in his contention that persons who registered in last year's general election, plus those who have registered since then, are eligible to vote in the Nov. 12 liquor election.

The Attorney General said he made a similar ruling in the disputed Clark County liquor election last year.

Dry leaders maintain that only those eligible to vote in last year's general election are eligible to vote. Wellons insisted that barring those who have registered since Nov. 2, 1948, "would amount to disenfranchising them."

Soviet Trading Corp. Indicted by U. S.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—A Federal Grand Jury here yesterday indicted Russia's Amtorg Trading Corp., and six of its officers on charges of violating the foreign agents registration act.

Truman Names Andrews, Hooper

President Truman yesterday named Atlanta Attorney M. Neil Andrews and Judge Frank A. Hooper, of Fulton Superior Court, to be Federal District Judges under recess appointments.

The appointments had been expected since the Senate Judicial Committee last week postponed action on Federal Judge nominations. Andrews is a former U. S. Attorney for the Northern District. Judge Hooper and Andrews said they had received no official notice of the appointments.

Tax Equality Bid Launched

A citizens' movement seeking a court injunction against the collection of State and county taxes until measures are taken to equalize such levies was launched last night at an Avondale Estates rally. The group will circulate petitions among taxpayers, calling for a readjustment of tax assessments and supporting the movement for court action, if necessary.

The group, headed by W. U. McCane, Jr., an Avondale resident, met in the Avondale Plaza. Col. Felix Gross, Avondale Mayor, attended, speaking in favor of the tax equalization movement.

Miami Upsets Georgia, 13-9, as Tech Awaits Tilt With Underdog Florida

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

Coach Bobby Dodd and his Georgia Tech coaching aids are probably suffering with a big case of jitters down in Gainesville, Fla., this morning after hearing what Miami University's Hurricanes did to Coach Wallace Butts' heavily favored Georgia Bulldogs last night in the Orange Bowl.

Georgia entered last night's game favored by two touchdowns but those Hurricanes didn't believe the "Minneapolis line" and went on to score one of the young season's biggest upsets, 13-9. Georgia held a slim 2-0 lead at halftime by virture of a safety. In the third quarter, Miami, which is striving to land a membership in the Southeastern Conference, hurried over two touchdowns and added one extra point to lead, 13-2.

Georgia made a gallant effort in the final quarter with a touchdown and point after, but that wasn't enough to harness this rampaging Hurricane. It was Georgia's third loss in six starts this season.

Now Dodd, who didn't like the role of favorite for his Georgia Tech Jackets to start with, can be plenty perturbed as he awaits the kickoff against Bear Wolf's University of Florida Gators this afternoon. The Miami brand of hospitality wasn't anything to brag about, as Georgia will attest. Tech coaches are afraid that this may be catching in Gainesville too. The Jackets are two touchdown favorites over the Gators.

Tech's Yellow Jackets, who usually provide ample gridiron entertainment right here at Grant Field each Saturday afternoon will be in Gainesville this afternoon for their annual scuffle with Coach "Bear" Wolf's Florida 'Gators; while Coach Wallace Butts' Georgia Bulldogs wound up their week's chores against Miami's Hurricane's last night in the Orange Bowl.

The Engineers, victors over Vanderbilt, Washington & Lee and Auburn, and losers only to Tulane, will be after their third Southeastern Conference win this afternoon and will probably succeed unless Chuck Hunsinger and Company suddenly cut loose with a super duper performance. Though Tech is a two-touchdown favorite, it should be a real ball game. Coach Wolf is fighting to hold his job, the 'Gators may catch the spirit and play a whale of a game.

64-80 RANGE TODAY SLATED

Sidewalk Egg-Frying Next

Nobody's tried to fry an egg on Atlanta sidewalks yet this week.

But the weatherman wouldn't be a bit surprised if that Summertime feat was attempted any day now.

"People keep calling up and telling me I've got my weather mixed," he grinned yesterday. "And doggoned if it doesn't feel like July instead of late October to me, too."

Official forecasters will be working in their shirt-sleeves again today, when local temperatures are scheduled to range between 64 and 80 degrees. Yesterday's low was 67 and the high was (whew!) 83.

"We're running about six degrees below normal," forecasters reported. Georgians ordinarily experience snappy, cool days with a 61-degree average this time of the year. Atlantans this time last year were bundled up in topcoats, as temperatures ranged from 40 to 54 degrees.

A warm current of air coming up from the Gulf is responsible for Georgia's current bounty of sunshine and tropical-like heat.

The weatherman predicted possible afternoon and evening showers in North Georgia may bring temperatures down slightly by Sunday. There will be considerable cloudiness today.

"Nobody's complaining," he added, "except the ladies with new fur coats!"

Farm Bill 'Fairly Good'; Takes Program Out of Politics--George

Sen. George yesterday predicted repeal of the oleomargarine tax in January and said that the compromise farm bill just passed by Congress will tend to take the farm program out of politics.

In an interview at his home in Vienna, where he arrived yesterday, the Senior Senator said that while the farm bill is not as good as many would like, it is a fairly good bill on the whole for both producers and consumers.

"It is especially good in that it establishes the farm program on a permanent base," said George. "It is a basis for a permanent long-range program, and enables farmers to figure ahead for long periods of time."

The measure retains prices of major crops at 90 percent of parity on the old or new basis for 1950. In 1951, this can be reduced to 80 percent, depending upon the supply and carry-over. After that, the support price can be lowered to 75 percent of parity.

The Senator said the new bill retains the flexible principle and provides for support based on production and supply on hand. He added that experience has shown that the price of the food products to consumers will work lower.

A Chairman of the Finance Committee, George said the oleomargarine tax bill has been designated as the "first seriously contested bill" for the January session. He said he had the strong conviction that the bill will pass. It is different from the House measure in some respects, and George expects it will be in conference committee by the middle of January.

The Finance Committee will begin hearings in January on the amended Social Security Act, already passed by the House, the Chairman stated.

For those speculating over whether the veteran Senator would seek re-election next year, George had no new message. Some weeks ago he stated he probably would be a candidate if he felt he could be of further service to the nation and his State and if his health permitted—but that he would not make a definite statement until he returned home. Yesterday, he said he hadn't "caught my breath yet," but that the decision might come within a few weeks.

SEIZE ILLICIT BEER; RETURN VEHICLE; IF WHISKEY, KEEP VEHICLE, COURT RULES

Law enforcement officers may seize beer that is being illegally possessed and transported, but they may not also confiscate the transporting vehicle, the State Court of Appeals ruled yesterday.

Under Georgia law, a vehicle illegally transporting whiskey may be confiscated, but the Court of Appeals ruled that this does not apply to the transportation of malt beverages.

The decision came on a case from Hall County where officers seized a pickup truck with 31 cases of beer last April. The Solicitor General filed a petition of condemnation to confiscate the truck. The petition was denied in Hall County Superior Court and the Appellate Court upheld that decision.

Griffin Man Wounds Two, Kills Self

GRIFFIN—(AP)—A former Griffin High School football star wounded two women and then shot himself to death yesterday, Spalding County Sheriff J. D. Posey said.

The wounded are Miss Aline Kent, who was shot twice in the stomach, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Kent, who was hit in the hip.

Miss Kent was in critical condition in the Griffin hospital, while her mother was not believed seriously hurt.

The Sheriff said he did not know the reason for the pistol attack by Harold (Doc) Hadden, 31. After wounding the two women, Hadden turned the gun on himself and shot himself through the head. He died almost instantly.

Hadden was a football star at Griffin High School in 1937.

A coroner's jury held Hadden's death a suicide, and said the motive of his attack on the two women was not known.

Posey said he had been told that Hadden parked his car within a block and then walked to the Kent home, went in and started shooting. The two women ran from the house, screaming. Then Hadden shot himself while still in the house.

Hadden used a .32-caliber automatic, from which four shots were fired.

Convicted Red, Davis, Ex-Atlantan

Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., one of the 11 Communist leaders sentenced yesterday in New York by Judge Harold R. Medina, is a former Atlanta Negro whose father published the now extinct Atlanta Independent.

Davis, 46, Negro Council member of New York City, was the son of the late Benjamin J. Davis, Sr., editor of the erstwhile Republican newspaper, according to J. Neal Montgomery, Atlanta Negro.

Montgomery said he remembered Davis as a neighbor and while he was a student at the old Summer Hill Public School. He said Davis also attended Morehouse College and received a degree from Harvard.

Davis, who received a five-year sentence and a $10,000 fine in the Communist trial, was reported to have been known as "Morton" Davis in Atlanta, taking the name of his father when he moved to New York City in the early 1930's.

Montgomery, who says he has no sympathies for the political leanings of the New York Councilman, revealed he has on a number of occasions bumped into Davis in New York. He stated he was always "cordial" whether speaking from the soap box or attending one of Broadway's plays.

He described Davis as the defense attorney in the noted Angelo Herndon trial in Atlanta. He is believed to have left Atlanta shortly after losing the case. Herndon was later pardoned.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE GIRLS GREET MINISTER NEHRU

Commie Trial Denounced By Vishinsky

NEW YORK—(AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky told the United Nations yesterday the conviction of 11 top American Communists was a violation of human rights.

That was his retort to Western charges that Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe are systematically persecuting people behind their iron curtains.

Vishinsky waved his arms in the 59-nation Assembly and shouted that Federal Judge Harold R. Medina kept counsel for the Communist defendants from speaking for them. He said Medina succeeded not only in convicting the defendants but in passing sentence on their lawyers as well.

The attorneys were sentenced to jail for contempt immediately after the convictions and the defendants with one exception were sentenced yesterday by Judge Medina to five years in prison. The 11 were fined $10,000 each, and the exception, a Pacific war hero, got a three-year sentence.

The debate broke out in the General Assembly over Western charges that Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania violated human rights in the trials of Cardinal Mindszenty, Protestant clergyman and in other instances.

Benjamin V. Cohen, United States delegate, led off with a charge that waves of a new despotism are sweeping over Czechoslovakia.

This was the first reference in the current Assembly to the accelerating purge in Czechoslovakia and that Communist-run country's continuing battle against the Catholic Church.

Vladimir Clementis, Czechoslovak Foreign Minister, answered Cohen quickly. He told the Assembly that the U. S. delegate had repeated prefabricated "stuff and charges" against the Czechs. With a bitter reference to the Czechoslovak defeat by Yugoslavia yesterday for a seat on the Security Council, Clementis said he wanted to remind Cohen that the election is over.

Nehru Hints at Desire To See More, Talk Less

BOSTON — (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru dropped yesterday what sounded much like a hint to his American hosts that he wishes he could see more and talk less on his good will tour.

And that people would quit calling him "Your Excellency" and being too blamed formal.

Nehru has been plied with expensive foods, lionized and called on for statesmanlike speeches and well-turned phrases since he arrived in this country 10 days ago.

He has hobnobbed with statesmen, financiers, industrialists, high society and the intelligentsia. He hasn't had much contact with the common every-day people who make the United State click.

And yesterday he spoke out.

"I didn't come here as an Excellency, the Prime Minister," Nehru told the girls of Wellesley College in a speech from the steps of the College chapel. "I feel embarrassed by that," he added.

Miss Margaret Clapp, the College president, had just introduced him to the 1,700 boisterously enthusiastic girls as "His Excellency, the Prime Minister." She murmured "I apologize," and joined him in a laugh.

"Since I've come here 10 days ago, I've been made to speak four times a day at public and semi-public meetings," Nehru continued, and added that he doesn't care much for speech-making.

He swung then into a kidding tone, and recalled that two of his nieces are Wellesley graduates. He wound up the speech, told his bodygurads to scram, and had a huge good time strolling about the campus with a queue of chattering students. The students gave their class yells.

Miss Clapp and his sister, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Ambassador from India, walked and chatted along with him, but it was Nehru who had command of the conversation.

Nehru also visited Harvard University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in his quests for tips on the American way of higher education.

He had a quiet dinner date last night with William Phillips, who served in India in 1942 and 1943 as a special representative of President Roosevelt, holding the rank of Ambassador. India was under British rule at that time and Nehru was a leader of her fight for independence.

"He was in prison then, and I wasn't allowed to see him," Phillips told a reporter who asked if they had met.

NEGLECT

Neglect is the greatest crime of citizenship. Neglect to vote, neglect to take an interest in the lives of those around us. Neglect to provide health, welfare and recreational facilities for all our people of our own volition. We best demonstrate our concern for others when we give to the Red Feather campaign.

Navy To Match Subs Against Vast Armada

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy will match 19 "enemy" submarines, augmented at times by land-based planes, against a 100-ship armada next month in the largest peacetime maneuvers ever held in North Atlantic waters.

The undersea fighters will try to turn back the second task fleet in its attempt to run from the Virginia Capes to a point south of Argentia, Newfoundland.

In another phase, the "enemy" subs, including the new Guppy-Snorkel type, will strive to block the armada's passage into the Davis Straits between Greenland and Newfoundland.

'Prospect' Robs Driver, Flees in Car

A State-wide alarm was broadcast last night for a one-legged gunman who kidnaped a Negro attendant at an Atlanta automobile concern, left him securely bound to a tree in DeKalb County and escaped in a new automobile.

The Negro, J. L. Johnson, of 700 Fair St., S. W., told Police Lt. Glyn Cowan and Detective W. S. Acree he remained tied to a tree on Johnson Road, N. E., near Plaster Road for almost an hour before a passing motorist heard his shouts. He was released at 10 a. m. yesterday.

DeKalb Officers D. H. Broome and J. C. Nix, who released Johnson, immediately notified Atlanta officers and the State Patrol.

The bandit, about 35 years of age, five feet six inches tall, slender with light brown hair and fair complexion, walked into an auto dealer lot at 263 Spring St., N. W., early yesterday and said he wanted to trade in a 1942 car on a new station wagon.

E. R. Tyson, an employee of the auto concern, said the man selected a machine and then said he wanted to show it to a brother who was a mechanic on Buford Highway, N. E., before closing the deal. Tyson sent Johnson to drive the prospective customer to the Buford Highway garage.

As they reached the city limit, the man told Johnson to stop. The man got into the rear seat, explaining that he thought he overheard a noise in the transmission or rear axle of the machine.

On Piedmont Road, N. E., Johnson said he overheard a noise and looked back to see the man holding a .45-caliber automatic.

"I hate to do this," the bandit was quoted as saying, "but if you do as I say, you won't get hurt."

Johnson said the bandit ordered him to turn on Plaster Road and again on Johnson Road. He seemed to be thoroughly familiar with the section.

Ordering the Negro to stop, the bandit forced him to walk into a heavily wooded area 100 feet from the roadside and strip, Johnson said, adding the gunman took a $65 watch, a ring valued at $85 and $1.10.

"I'll mail you a pawn ticket so you can get these back," the bandit promised as he pocketed the watch and ring. He then permitted Johnson to don his clothes and forced him to sit down against a small tree.

LODGE USING SAME BIBLE FOR 100 YEARS TO MARK BIRTHDAY IN BLAIRSVILLE

Constitution State News Service

BLAIRSVILLE—A joint celebration will be held here today when the Allegheny Lodge 14, F. and A. M., will dedicate its new building, and at the same time observe the 100th anniversary of the lodge.

Dewey Woolstein, Past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Georgia, will preside over the celebration which will be held in the new building.

Many Masons from surrounding counties are expected to attend the affair, Jack G. Tarpley, Worshipful Master of the lodge, reported yesterday.

The charter for the lodge was issued in October, 1849, and the first Worshipful Master was Simpson Reid.

Tarpley also added that the lodge is still using the same Bible which was presented the order 100 years ago.

Construction of the new lodge building was started in August, and completed last week. The dedication was delayed so that the joint celebration could be held today.

Police Escort Escapes Hurts

A patrolman escorting an injured youth to Grady Hospital yesterday narrowly escaped injury when an automobile pulled in front of his motorcycle, records showed.

Ptl. C. F. Sanders was escorting a car driven by Carl E. Davis, 1104 Faith Ave., east of Glenn Street at Pryor Street when a car driven north on Pryor pulled into the intersection. Sanders leaped from the motor a scant second before the crash, then righted the machine and sped on to Grady Hospital.

The injured youth in the auto, Max Nesbett, 17, of 210 Powell St., S. E., sustained a broken leg in a football practice game on the John A. White golf course. Davis was rushing Nesbett to the hospital and asked Sanders for an escort.

Atlanta Pen Gets Auto Theft

William M. Steinbrecher, 54, of Huntington, W. Va., who pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court in Huntington yesterday to two charges of interstate transportation of stolen automobiles, has been sentenced to seven years in the Federal penitentiary here. Automobiles were transported from Chicago to West Huntington.

Joe Bishop Now Faces U. S. Charge

Joe Lee Bishop, an escaped convict, yesterday was ordered held by U. S. Commissioner Frank A. Holden under $5,000 bond on charges of transporting a stolen auto from Atlanta to Chattanooga, Tenn.

Arrested several weeks ago by FBI agents at Temple, Texas, Bishop was placed under $15,000 bond on a warrant issued by Holden for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He also faces arraignment in Federal Court on charges of violating the National Stolen Property Act as well as a number of State charges.

Bishop was charged with participating with John Valor, alias John Carrigan, and Boyce Bradford in a $24,000 payroll holdup of the Sewell Manufacturing Company plant at Bremen. He and Bradford reportedly escaped when Valor walked into a trap laid by Fulton County police on Fifth Street, N. E., two days after the robbery.

Valor is held without bond for the slaying of Mrs. Beatrice Samples, Atlanta widow, two months ago.

After the arrest at Temple, Fulton oficers at first said they were informed he would waive extradition to Georgia. He later decided against returning voluntarily. Federal officers returned him here under the warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He was placed in Fulton Tower.

Prior to his escape early last Summer from imprisonment in Gwinnett County, Bishop was serving sentences totaling more than 60 years for armed robberies in Fulton and DeKalb Counties.

DRAMA ON ROAD

Death Divides Twins in Race

State troopers and an ambulance driver yesterday split the score in a race with death across Georgia.

The race began with Manchester police escorting an ambulance bearing infant twin boys born prematurely to Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Barnes, of Warm Springs. A nurse rode in the ambulance with the twins, administering oxygen and stimulants in an attempt to keep them alive until they reached Henrietta Egleston Hospital here.

Sgt. W. J. Allison, of the Newnan State Patrol District, took over the escort at Luthersville at 4:25 p. m. Troopers C. W. Searcy and C. F. Cash picked up the ambulance at the Fayette-Clayton County line at 4:50 p. m. and reached Eggleston 20 minutes later.

Despite heroic efforts of the escorting officers, the nurse, and the ambulance driver, one of the babies died a few moments before reaching the hospital. He weighed less than two pounds.

The second, weighing slightly less than two and a half pounds has a chance to live, attending physicians said, adding the battle still "would be touch and go" for the next 24 hours.

Hospital physicians said the twins could not have been more than seven months advanced.

2 Georgia Heroes Being Returned

Two Georgia heroes are among the 67 American soldiers losing their lives during World War II in Belgium, France and Holland, now being returned to the United States by Army Transports.

The heroes and next of kin to be notified when the remains reach the Regional Distribution Depot of the Graves Registration Service are:

Brig. Gen. Nathan B. Forrest, Air Force, Mrs. Mary F. Meyers, 1717 North Ferry Rd., Atlanta; Pfc. R. T. Massey, Army, Walter J. Massey, Route 3, Jefferson.

Decatur Asks Solons To Widen Limits

Decatur will seek legislation permitting the extension of its corporate limits at the next session of Georgia's General Assembly.

The City Commission in session last night instructed the City Attorney to advertise such a legislative proposal as required by law. The measure did not specify the area of the proposed extension.

A referendum seeking to change the property tax rate for school purposes from 7½ to 12½ mills was also ordered held at the time of the regular City election, Dec. 7.

The referendum measure, if approved, would not raise the overall tax levy, according to officials, but would in etffect proportion the amount actually needed to operate the schools. The present levy is supplemented by money alloted from the general fund.

An extension in the date for payment of City property taxes without penalty was voted by members of the Commission. They changed the due date from Nov. 1 to Dec. 1, after which time fi. fa.'s would be levied for non-payment.

Among other actions, the Commission examined the third-quarter budget comparison report submitted by the City Manager. It noted that actual income in general was below the amounts anticipated when the budget was drawn. The report prorated receipts and expenditures over a period covering nine months operation.

Parking on both sides of Williams Street, was ordered banned from Clairmont Drive to Church Street, the entire length of the street.

Drive for Funds

ALBANY—The Albany Community Council, holding its monthly meeting, heard representatives from the six agencies participating in the Community Chest explain the need of their various budgets of funds received from the Chest.

Kenimer Refuses To Answer Upon Cross-Examination

After over-ruling a motion by Atty. Roy Harris to quash Sol Gen. Paul Webb's contempt charges against Charles M. Kenimer, Jr., on the grounds that he had purged himself of contempt by giving up, Fulton Superior Court Judge Ralph Pharr continued the hearing until 10 a. m. today.

Webb contends that because of Kenimer's absence for 238 days he is guilty of 238 separate counts of contempt. The defense, represented, besides Harris, by Attys. Tom Camp and Hal Lindsay, declares that only one offense could be involved, even if the State proves its contention.

Kenimer took the stand yesterday for cross-examination, but refused to answer questions on the ground he might incriminate himself. Other witnesses were Durwood Pye, former attorney for Kenimer, who described the disappearance of the child from the home of Charles M. Kenimer, Sr., Investigator Lewis Clyburne, who trailed Kenimer, Jr., to Cuba, Mrs. Wade Senter, the child's mother, and Mrs. Maude McKenney, former housekeeper at the Cox-Carlton Hotel.

Mrs. McKenney testified she overheard young Kenimer's plan to take Betty Ann away from her mother.

Veteran Court Reporter Howard Jenkins, assigned to Judge Pharr, played a double role in the Kenimer case.

Jenkins testified and recorded his own testimony as he talked.

He was put on the stand by Sol. Gen. Webb to identify transcripts of testimony at previous hearings as "true and correct copies."

Clear Officer Of Whiskey Sale at Fair

Ptl. L. H. Evans yesterday in a Recorder's Court hearing was exonerated of selling whiskey at Lakewood Park during the Southeastern Fair.

Evans told Recorder A. W. Callaway he was on vacation from the police force during the Fair and operated two lunch stands at Lakewood. He said he recognized a detective from the vice squad, who stopped by one of the stands and asked where he could get a drink. The detective explained he had a severe cold, Evans added.

Contacting a parking lot attendant, who worked on the outside of the park, Evans said he asked where he could get a pint of liquor "because I was trying to do a favor for a brother officer." The attendant, Tommy Thompson, testified that he secured the liquor and passed it on to Evans.

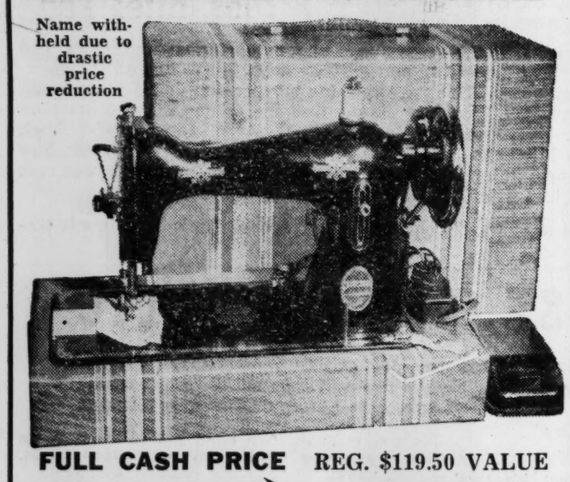

Det. Pinson Hammond, who made the arrest, said he did not know Evans was a city officer until after he made the arrest. Evans was assigned to three-wheel motorcycle duty in the downtown section. Hammond works in the detective bureau.

In giving his decision, Callaway pointed out that the case still could be presented before the Fulton County Grand Jury. Evans was suspended from duty following the arrest and is scheduled to be tried before the next meeting of City Council's Police Committee.

Out of Debt . . . Keep It That Way

A member of the State Tax Revision Committee has a suggestion for raising the money necessary to improve schools and expand other services.

Borrow it!

Raymond Nelson, of Atlanta, thinks Georgia should remove the constitutional prohibition against the issuance of bonds and float a big loan to do immediately the things everyone admits need doing.

Mr. Nelson may have forgotten the many years when the State of Georgia was deep in debt; he may have forgotten the struggle it was to pay the State out of the hole; he may have forgotten the concerted sigh of relief taxpayers gave at the time of the bond-burning which signified our deliverance from the hands of the coupon-clippers.

But we haven't.

"If a sales tax is proposed to finance expanded services, it will be fought. If higher income taxes are proposed, they will be fought. Any revision of taxes will face opposition. Yet the people want, and must have, the services," Mr. Nelson declares. "Shouldn't we consider floating bonds and providing the services now, and then getting the taxes to repay the debt?"

No, Mr. Nelson, we shouldn't.

Georgia at last is on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Let's keep it that way.

If the people want those expanded services badly enough, they can and will be paid for. But let's have none of this business, on the State level at any rate, of sending the bill to the next generation for the services this one enjoys.

A Better Product---Let's Sell It

Fifty-one percent of the more than 50 million families in the United States own automobiles.

That fact is revealed, along with a lot of others equally impressive, by a survey recently completed by the Federal Reserve Board.

No other country approaches ours in material comforts and possessions. We have not only more automobiles but more bath tubs, telephones, radios and fountain pens that write under water than any other nation on earth.

Our system, in short, produces more goods for more people than any history has ever known.

Why, then, is the other the one which is making the most converts?

A New Angle in Divorce Suits

A Spokane, Wash., woman is reported as hesitant to sue for divorce for fear her spouse would demand custody of the cocker spaniels, which are the couple's joint property.

Now there's a new angle for you!

Many a wife has complained that her husband was going to the dogs. Here's one who is fretting lest the dogs go to her husband.

Justice Is Served

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina yesterday sentenced 10 of the 11 Communists convicted of conspiracy to teach overthrow of the Government by force to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine each. That is the maximum under the 1948 revision of the Smith Act.

The remaining Communist, Robert Thompson, got off somewhat lighter with a three-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine, Judge Medina taking into consideration his war record.

The public will, we believe, agree that the ends of justice have been served.

A jury of 12 citizens, headed, incidentally, by a Negro woman whose race the Communists love to picture as victims of "capitalistic oppression," found the Communists guilty. Next to outright treason itself, the crime of which the Communists were found guilty is the vilest of all offenses. And that is particularly true of those who, as the Communists do, use all the freedoms and immunities guaranteed by a free society to attempt to enslave that society.

The maximum sentence which Judge Medina has fixed will be notice to all Communists that these offenses are not taken lightly.

The Communist Party has not been outlawed. Conspiring to destroy the Government has always been a crime.

In showing leniency to Robert Thompson, the jurist served a reminder that service to the country, even by those who have sunk to the lowest depths, is not forgot. There is nothing anomalous in Thompson's war record, for the public will remember that the war against Germany was denounced and demonstrated against by the Communists until Hitler tricked his Russian ally and marched against her. From that moment on the Allied cause became a "holy crusade" for the Communists.

The Record for Mr. Truman's Program

WASHINGTON—Last November's election finally made itself felt in the Eighty-first Congress. With all strictly partisan claims aside, that is the real story of the nearly 10 months' ordeal of one of the longest peacetime Congresses in our history. Again, as in that surprising election, the result is a tribute to the persistence and patience of Harry S. Truman, who got a lot done finally in his own quiet way.

His successes go right back to that same 1948 campaign. He made such an issue of the Eightieth Congress and its derelictions, made the public so aware of Congress, that members of the present Congress did not dare go back home until they got something done. Members will confess that to you privately. He put them on the spot by merely announcing, every so often, that Congress was going to stay here until it did something about his program and that he was going to stay right here on the job, himself, to watch it, which was exactly what he did. A simple technique, but it worked.

Accomplishments in the field of foreign policy, in which the President got everything he asked, will be passed over, important as they are. That was a bipartisan achievement in which Republicans share, though it required constant attention and careful direction to prevent threatened upsets from time to time.

What was the President's major emphasis in the last campaign? It was on social welfare measures that were denied by the Republican Eightieth Congress, as they had been by previous Democratic Congresses since the war. Largely, they were measures left over from the Roosevelt New Deal which were revived as the Truman Fair Deal. How did they fare? Here's the record:

Enactment of a long-range housing bill. Enactment of a bill increasing the statutory minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour.

Both were highly controversial and both were bitterly resisted for several years.

Passage by the House of a comprehensive bill expanding the Social Security law to cover 11,000,000 more persons and increasing benefits, which is certain to be acted upon by the Senate next session and become law before the next election.

Restoration of cuts made by the Eightieth Republican Congress in funds for great public power, reclamation and irrigation projects that had crippled some of them temporarily, and retention of the principle of Government transmission lines from such public projects. This was the issue that contributed to President Truman's victory in the West last year. He delivered on his pledges in this Congress.

In the field of farm legislation, Congress provided adequate Government grain storage facilities, the failure to do which by the Eightieth Republican Congress was perhaps the chief factor in swinging a number of farm States to Mr. Truman last year. It kept the 90 percent parity price for another year to replace the 60-90 sliding scale of the Aiken bill of the last Congress, which would have gone into effect next Jan. 1, with a flexible scale to be gradually imposed after 1950. Congress also provided for loans to co-operatives for extension of telephone service in rural areas.

All these things meet definite, everyday needs of our people.

The President failed most dramatically in his effort to get repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, but refused to take a compromise.

Politically, President Truman comes from this Congress in good shape. Aside from the definite achievements that have wide popular appeal, he has kept Taft-Hartley repeal alive as an issue which, with the Brannan Farm Plan, will form the keystones of his attempt to create a Farmer-Labor alliance for next year's congressional elections.

Channing Cope's Great Contribution

(Fitzgerald Leader)

The State-wide agitation for "Green Pastures" must thrill our old friend, Channing Cope, who, for the past many years, has through his daily broadcasts and his regular contributions in The Atlanta Constitution, brought this to fruition. Channing Cope, as the Front Porch Farmer, a title he gave his book on pastures, recently issued, deserves a monument for his valuable services to the agriculture of Georgia, is being recognized during his lifetime.

His latest advice is for farmers to prepare for pastures now and to plant in November for a good stand. It is timely advice, and the Leader is glad to join Mr. Cope in this worthy cause.

Death Comes For 'Professor'

They told me at the door of his home when I went by to leave my card and ask them to give him a word, that he was near to death, but that he would bellow at them if they did not bring me up. So I went.

He was lying on his bed, his hands clasped under his head.

"If was good of you to come," he said. "It still startles me to have one of my boys come back to me as a man."

I could tell he was thinking back to me as a boy in his classes at McCallie School, ancient history and Bible history. I was then, though it be now difficult to believe, a scrawny, thin thing, filled with the idealism found in the books of Ralph Henry Barbour, Henty, the Waverly Novels and stories of Nathan Bedford Forrest and Stonewall Jackson. I thought back with him and we both looked at one another and grinned.

Greeks He brought himself back to the present and his bed of pain.

"The Greeks used to speak of a splenetic man," he said, "and for the first time I know what they really meant. I have leukemia and since I am an old man they have striven to turn it into a chronic case. There is no cure for it and no chance for me unless they do, and they have not yet done so. Yesterday I began to bleed from the spleen and I am a very splenetic man, likely to beat my wife or speak ill to friends." (I think of all the history he taught, he liked best that of ancient Greece.)

He was cheerful and told me two jokes. His breathing, though, was difficult and we shook hands and I quit the room. He called out to me as I left, saying he would see me in November, when I am scheduled to speak at the school. But somehow I felt he knew it all along and was speaking out bravely for the appearance of things.

Three hours later he was suddenly worse and late Tuesday evening in a Chattanooga hospital the end came to Spencer Jarnegan McCallie, 74 years old, all of his adult life a teacher and all of his life a wondrous man given to laughter, to wisdom and to integrity.

Teacher He was one of those rare men with a genius for teaching. He could stir the imagination of his students. I still remember how he looked in class and the things he said about the Romans, the Greeks, the Spartans, the Phoenicians, Persians and others out of the dusty past.

We had a boy in the class who was slow to learn. One day, after long struggle, he was able to recite a lesson correctly.

"Hillsman," said the professor, "I wish I had all that engraved on a mallet so I could hit you in the head with it and impress it permanently on your mind."

He was a great man for sports and very agile. Now and then, without any appearance of feeling especially jaunty, he would come into the classroom, leap nimbly over his desk and take his seat. It was a good jump with a running start. He would do it from a walking start.

Men In teaching Bible history he was equally as good. He taught them as men, and as seen by their contemporaries. I have never been able to think of the Christ, for example, as a pale, meek man in a white robe with a light behind him. I have always thought of Him as a man in a worn pair of dusty sandals, an old black robe with the required tassles on its corners, his thin Semitic face alight with the passion of His mission and His message. I have always thought of Him as deeply involved by the politicians of Jerusalem and as hated and betrayed by the Sadducees, who were the collaborators with the Roman occupation forces.

"Professor" Professor, as we called him, was a rare man. He was a fine student of history and a teacher of it such as I never knew. Hundreds of boys over the South and many over the nation who sat in his classes loved him and remember him with affection, giving to him a sort of earthly immortality which would please nim. It was comforting to have him living in this world, of which he was so unafraid. It seems a little darker without him.

Stories—Dirty and Otherwise

"Did you hear the story about the traveling salesman who came home a day ahead of time and found his wife out automobile riding with his best friend?"

Probably whether you've heard it or not you are doomed. Anyway, the husband goes to see his mother-in-law to discuss the annoying situation and asks her what should be done about her daughter's conduct. Mother-in-law like, she switches the blame to the man.

"It's your fault," she answers. "Why don't you send a telegram first?"

Many readers will probably recognize the tale as one which can be told with several different shades of meaning. The masters at this technique were Ed Wynn and Frank Tinney, both great comedians, although the latter has been dead several years. They could take a story which would make the acoustics of a Pullman car smoking room blush and clean it up so the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union would roar with laughter at it. Wynn is probably the greatest authority on jokes alive and has a library filled with humorous volumes larger than the law collection of the big New York firm of Sullivan and Cromwell.

Rules There are a few simple rules connected with this form of witticisms which might interest the reader if he is not already familiar with them. The first is to try to avoid listening to most storytellers who start off—"Have you heard this one?" However, there are exceptions as, for example, if the raconteur is a customer, laugh to beat the band even if you have heard it 10 times, because this helps to sell goods. It might even be worth while asking him to tell it over again. Here are good examples of customer stories:

There was a woman who bought a small farm in the country, but she was no Louis Bromfield when it came to knowing about running it. She purchased a pig for $25 and kept him for six months and then sold him for $20. When she explained the deal to a neighbor, he was surprised since she had been feeding the animal all this time, so she said:

"Don't forget I had the use of the pig for six months."

There is the one about the man who calls up and asks a big shot to have dinner with him that night. When he declines, claiming a previous engagement, the host says then tomorrow night, Tuesday night, Wednesday night, etc. Finally the invitee answers:

"Oh, hell, if you feel that way about it, let's make it tonight and get it over with."

The teller can make this story as long-winded as he likes, but the shorter the better for my money.

Recently this writer was at lunch with Clare Boothe Luce, the brilliant author, playwright and former Congresswoman. She was talking about when she was a war correspondent and, usually being the only woman present, was exposed to the off-color yarns of the male species.

Game "I invented a game," she explained, "which worked very well. As soon as somebody started to tell a story, everybody in the group would have to put up a quarter, and the man was required to cover the total pot. Then, if anyone had heard it before, he announced the punch line and the author lost his money. If it were new, he collected from everyone. You would be surprised how well it worked and how many dull stories we missed," she added. Might be worth trying.

Several years ago, a rich friend of mine invited several of us to dinner at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in New York to greet a wit from the Middle West who had recently moved to town to join a big law firm and who arrived encased in a dress suit, smelling of moth balls. He evidently felt it was up to him to be the life of the party and started to tell smoking-car stories although it was a coeducational gathering. We let him get away with two or three old ones, but then a couple of us blasted him with the endings as soon as he would start. He showed up the next day at his office with a new idea of the East and, I hope, of the quality of his humor and stories. The education should have been worth several hundred dollars to him.

Ring Lardner had a system which frequently worked. As soon as someone would say with a grin:

"Have you heard this one?"

Mr. Lardner, with his discouraging dead pan, would answer: "Yes." This went even if the man was a customer.

ALTAR STAIRS — By John Marvin Rast

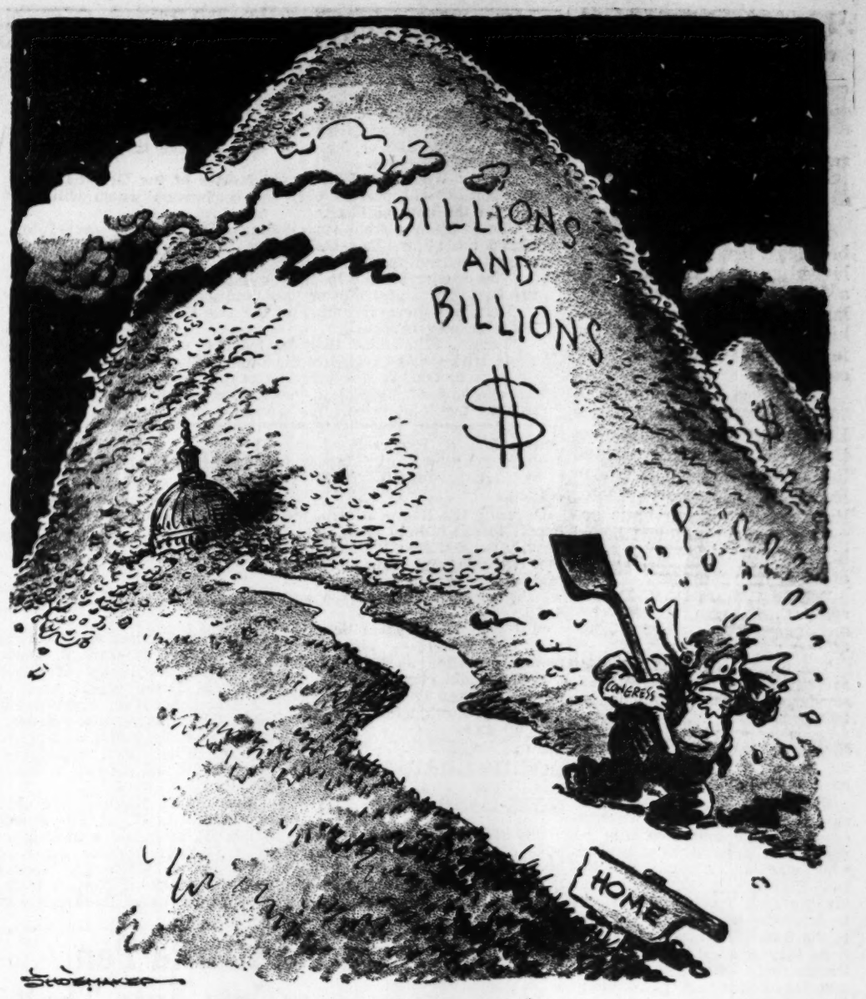

But he that receiveth seed into the good ground is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some sixty, some thirty. —Matthew 13:23.

The parable of the sower is really the parable of the soils. In "Soil, a Foundation of Health," a thought-provoking booklet by Arnold P. Yerkes, we are told that it is possible to starve to death on a full stomach.

It makes plain that elements essential to health will not be found in food unless they are present in the soil that produced the food.

Thus it comes about that farmers in some States will not buy corn from other sections of the same State, because they know that the land producing it was deficient in such way that the grain lacked feeding value.

Surely we cannot afford to be less intelligent, less alert with respect to health of soul.

You'd Be Tired, Too!

A Few Brays for the Cavalry

The armed forces unification squabble is at last complete. The Cavalry has been heard from.

From Lancaster, S. C., has arrived a statement from Maj. Gen. Joe Gish, identified only as the "hero of San Juan Hill."

Gen. Gish apparently was en route, by horseback of course, to Washington when Congress adjourned. He had intended demanding that he be allowed to testify before the House Armed Services Committee. Or, failing that, he at least could have slipped a few highly classified Cavalry criticisms of the B-36 to one of the wire services at a clandestine meeting in the rear of some livery stable. However, his horse having lost a shoe —Gen. Gish suspects sabotage—he has decided to try the nation's defense secrets in the customary arena, the public press.

"The Joint Chiefs have nibbled to death the offensive power of the Cavalry, and imperiled the defenses of this country," said the doughty General, banging his crop against his sturdy bowlegs. "They are putting all of my eggs in their baskets. Why, my grandson can't play polo any more and, if they keep on spending all of the appropriations on modern gadgets, pretty soon the Navy will be deprived of all its sail boats, the Army of all its scooters, and the Marines of all their arrogance. What will the American people do if the enemy parachutes its cavalry into the hills of West Virginia? Our radar could not detect them, our bombers could not hit them, our tanks could not catch them, and our submarines could not get up the creek. The Cossacks are today the finest horsemen in the world. Who would save America? Call the Cavalry!

"But the Joint Chiefs have nibbled the grass from under the American horses and ruined the morale of the American horsemen, and all they have left to defend the country is a bunch of moth-eaten geldings. This may cost me my pension, but I must speak out before it is too late and warn the American people that the Joint Chiefs' conception of global strategy is all wrong. They worship Gen. Mitchell, Adm. Dewey, and Buck Rogers. I never admired Billy Mitchell. I once saw him fall off a horse. And I deplore the atom bomb. It is brutal and inhuman to bomb, drown, or shoot the enemy, but it is perfectly good etiquette to cut him down with a troop of well-bred horses.

"It is useless to survive the next war," concluded the General, "unless our great traditions survive with us!"

Inconsistent

Editor Constitution: Strange, but it's true! When a student sets out to attain his goal in the noble legal profession, he must spend months and even years in dealing with the myriad of legal technicalities and the mysteries of the law. Drill after drill, review after review and then comes the final examination to test the student's knowledge of the perplexities that go to make up the vast field of law.

Then after all the student's months of profound study, there awaits him the State bar examination. In order to pass this rigid test of his knowledge of the law, he must have a prodigious memory in order that he may be able to cope with the perplexing and nerve-racking technicalities.

Since the aforesaid is true, the students often wonder why they are discriminated against by the strange laws that are incorporated in our code. Inconsistencies, yes, plenty of them! Our law makes it possible for ordinaries, justices of the peace and mayors, in many respects, to practice law without ever having spent a single day delving into the vast field of the legal profession, still they are technically practicing law and sit as both judge and jury. In many cases their decisions are conclusive. We must correct this inconsistency and injustice!

Belie

Editor Constitution: Continual allegations of ignorance and superstition, hurled at persons of faith, recall a story heard in time past. Altered and condensed it follows:

Two friends met. One began to speak of the supreme God, God who can "bind the sweet influences of Pleiades or loose the hands of Orion"; God, who directs the affairs of the Universe with more exacting precision than ever displayed by man-made machinery.

The other heard with growing impatience and then interrupted: "You are an ignorant fool if you believe old superstitions like that!"

The first speaker continued: "I want to tell you a story. You must believe it because in my pocket I have proof of its truth.

"I once traveled through a region where no other person had ever been. Suddenly I saw a shining object lying on the ground. I stooped and picked it up. Here it is, this beautiful watch. There in that far-away land various elements had happened to come together and had formed the case, works, dial and hands of this watch. Even to the crystal it was complete. I wound it; it began to tick and ever since has kept perfect time."

Once again the listener spoke: "Do you think I'm fool enough to believe a tale like that?"

Now, other words come to mind, these are the words of Jesus: "Ye blind guides, which strain at a gnat and swallow a camel." Matt.: 23:24.

Let Holy Ghost Rest

Editor Constitution: "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings hast Thou ordained strength." John W. Moore (age 14) has said more that made sense than dozens of writers of many volumes, and infinitely more than those whose letters you have been printing for the last few devastating weeks. He doesn't know, wherein he is like all the others wno have written so learnedly. Isn't his letter a good period to put to the subject? Let's give the Holy Ghost a rest.

Keep on believing that way, John. You have the right idea and it will give you great happiness and peace of mind in the many years to come which the writer wishes you. J. N. W.

Presbyterians

Editor Constitution: Rev. Thomas M. Elliott in "Religion in Georgia" quotes Muggsy Smith as saying "that 90 percent of Presbyterians in Georgia live within five miles of Five Points." This statement is very erroneous and misleading as less than 50 percent of Presbyterians in Georgia live within five miles of Five Points, and I will give the official records made to the Synod of Georgia in 1948, as the minutes of 1949 have not been printed as yet, to prove it. Athens Presbytery reported 3,551, Augusta 3,413, Cherokee 4,127, Macon 4,167, Savannah 4,241, Southwest 3,789, making a total of 23,286, while Atlanta Presbytery, including Lawrenceville, LaGrange, McDonough, Covington, Roswell, Newnan, Hapeville, Thomaston, West Point, Griffin and several other small churches in addition to Greater Atlanta and Decatur, reported only 23,230.

New Long Distance System Grows Rapidly

By KATHERINE BARNWELL
Constitution Science Writer

Although the day may never come when telephone operators are obsolete, mechanization of the telephone industry is making rapid strides.

Many long distance calls can now be made with one operator instead of two.

Operator toll dialing—a new system where the long distance operator dials the called number direct without the aid of another operator in the distant city—was launched here recently.

Augusta was the first city to be able to call Atlanta 'phone subscribers direct. But other cities have followed—and many more soon will join the expanding network.

J. B. Kincaid, Atlanta District Manager for Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, said toll dialing had begun "an era of faster and more efficient long distance service."

Some national telephone experts have predicted that some day subscribers may be able to pick up the telephone, dial the proper 10 digits and talk with anyone anywhere in the country.

But local engineers are dubious of that prospect—in the foreseeable future, at least.

The entire country (and this is fact, not wistfulness) eventually will be divided into about 80 regions, each with a number of three digits.

Kincaid said some day a single operator (if not a subscriber) would be able to dial the three-digit code and then the regular number and thus reach virtually any telephone in the United States and Canada without the assistance of other operators along the route of the call.

Georgia now has about 475,000 telephones. Southern Bell has more than 3,000,000, and the nation as a whole has 40,000,000.

THE PARTY'S QUEENMAKER

Mrs. India Edwards Given Title

By MARIE T. BROWN

WASHINGTON—(NANA)—This capital is calling Mrs. India Edwards a "queenmaker." The director of the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee is being given much of the credit for the many juicy appointments which the Administration is handing women of the party.

Mrs. Edwards is the first woman political leader in either party to achieve almost a perfect record of success in boosting members of her own sex and party to important public office. She is reported completely dedicated to recognition for women in government.

The secret of her success, according to Mrs. Edwards and her friends, is that she does not want anything for herself. "If I had wanted to advance myself and accepted a job as soon as we won, I would have been taken care of—and no one else," she said today.

President Truman has made 17 major appointments of women since his re-election, and during Mrs. Edwards' term of office, in all of which she is reported to have had a hand. In addition, almost 220 women have been appointed to international conferences since 1948.

Standing only a slim five feet three, Mrs. Edwards is described by various Democratic women as a forthright, square fighter, loyal to the cause of pushing women into government, and a devoted wife and mother. One woman leader said, "She is a man's woman—men trust her."

India Edwards came into politics as a novice and a volunteer in 1944 after the death of her son in World War II. Her aim was to work for peace. Before that she was woman's editor of the Chicago Tribune for 15 years.

The latest appointment conceded to her was the nomination this week by President Truman of Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews, of Washington, to the position of Judge of the United States District Court. Mrs. Matthews is the second woman to be appointed to a Federal Court in the history of the United States. (The first was Judge Florence Allan, of Ohio.)

Mrs. Edwards was elated over Mrs. Matthews' selection, saying that she was "richly qualified, as were all the others." She called attention to the fact that Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark, recently appointed, is the first woman Treasurer of the United States, and Mrs. Eugenia Anderson, U.S. Ambassador-Designate to Denmark, is the first woman Ambassador.

Other recent women appointees were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to the United Nations General Assembly, Mrs. Perle Mesta as United States Minister to Luxembourg, Miss Freda Hennock as Commissioner of the Federal Communications Commission, Georgia Lusk to the War Claims Commission, Helen Gahagan Douglas, Virginia Gildersleeve (President of Barnard College) and Ruth Bryan Rhode as alternates to the UN General Assembly; Frances Perkins, Commissioner of the Civil Service.

"Every normal home has to have a woman," said Mrs. Edwards today. "Everyone always feels sorry for a man trying to bring up a family of children when he is a widower. Everyone, including myself, goes out to find a wife to help him, or at least an Aunt Susie to take care of the home. So why don't we need a woman's voice in government?

"So many women are doing grand jobs in high positions in business, it has made my job easier to find qualified ones.

"Men haven't made such a great success, with a war in every generation—so why not give women a chance on a policy level? After all, women own almost 80 percent of the wealth in this country and are a political factor upon whom a party should focus all-out attention."

The woman leader outlined the "official protocol" through which she follows up her "suggestions." She said she was careful to work always through "correct channels."

"When I want to indorse a woman, I take it up with Mr. Boyle, the Democratic National Chairman, who takes it up with the Cabinet member in whose department the position would fall. He, in turn, takes it up with the President. For instance, the appointment of Mrs. Clark was recommended officially by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder."

MRS. INDIA EDWARDS

She added that President Truman and the Democratic men leaders were "wonderful, just wonderful," in their co-operation with the Women's Division. "We all work as a team."

Mrs. Edwards stated she had been offered ambassadorships and this and that position, but did not want them. "After I finish my job, I want to retire to my family." She is Mrs. Herbert Edwards in private life, and her home is in Harwood, Md. She has one daughter.

Church Women Slate Meeting

The Atlanta Council of Church Women will observe United Nations' Day Monday at a meeting to begin at 7:30 p. m. at St. Mark's Methodist Church.

Representatives of the Council's State and Local Governments study groups will present a special program. Speakers will include Dr. Leroy Loemker, Prof. William H. Jones, Dr. J. McDowell Richards, Jack Tarver, Associate Editor of The Atlanta Constitution, and George Goodwin, of The Atlanta Journal staff.

Foreign students of this area, foreign-born residents, and newly naturalized U. S. citizens have been invited to participate. Following the program, a reception honoring foreign students will be held in the church parlors. The public is invited.

ITU Local Opposes Hikes For Officials

Special to The Constitution

CHICAGO—Chicago Typographical Union, Local 16 of the AFL International Typographical Union, has voted down wage increases and pensions for five top officials of ITU.

The results of the vote held Wednesday by the Chicago union, and now tabulated, show that the proposition providing $2,000 annual salary increases for the top officials was defeated by a vote of 2,318 to 1,093 and the proposition which would have amended the ITU constitution so that the pensions could be paid was defeated 1,747 to 1,691.

Members of Local 16 predicted that the vote of their union would reflect the percentage by which both propositions would be defeated when the final tabulation of the vote of ITU's 90,000 members throughout the nation and Canada is tabulated within a few weeks.

The pension and salary increases were approved by a majority of delegates to the ITU's convention held during August at Oakland, Cal., where it was ruled that only the salary increase proposition need be approved by referendum of the ITU membership.

But after the convention an ITU member threatened to bring suit in court to halt the pension plan from going into effect, so the ITU Executive Council ruled that the members vote to amend the union's constitution so the pensions could be paid and as a bar to the suit. If this amendment is rejected by the ITU membership as it was by Local 16 it should act as a bar to the payment of the pensions voted by the convention.

PACKHAM LOSES HIS SHIRT!—Bill Packham, right, emcee of WCON'S "Breakfast on Peachtree" program, unprotestingly gives up his shirt to R. C. Ezell, of 1136 Boulevard Dr. It all started when Announcer Les Henrikson called Ezell during his morning "Know Atlanta" program and gave him two guest tickets to the breakfast broadcast after he failed to answer the day's quiz about Atlanta. As an afterthought, Henrikson told Ezell to demand Packham's shirt when he visited the program. He did—and got it.

Miami's No Place To Dope Games

MIAMI, Fla.—This picking football games is getting to be a habit . . . a bad habit.

And it is especially tough down here among the palms, sand and hotels, because such things do not form a proper setting for football.

In fact, I'm sitting here in an ocean-front room at the Shelbourne Hotel trying to figure the games and just a couple of stories below is one of those modernistic swimming pools with a lot of curving slides.

And fellows, if you think it isn't hard to concentrate on football with such outside distractions, you ought to try it.

Oh, well, here I go trying to improve our record of 91 wins, 22 losses and six ties for an .805 average.

GEORGIA TECH-FLORIDA—This one has as many angles as the swimming pool and the girls below. Word around here is the Gators are considerably miffed at the Techs for letting Hayes McKinney, a guard, try to score a touchdown on them last season. Of course, it was all in good, clean fun and nothing was meant by it. But apparently Florida hasn't taken it that way. On the other hand, Bear Wolf probably is on the way out as Gator coach and it may be his team has lost interest in winning. If this is the case Tech will win easily. But if the Gators get riled and set out to win one for their coach they may do it. I'll have to take Tech on the records.

KENTUCKY-SMU—Here's the real test for the Wildcats. They are face to face with a great season or just a good one. It's a challenge which I think they will accept and handle. Doak Walker probably won't play and, therefore, the odds makers have run the price up to two touchdowns, with Kentucky being favored. The Cats aren't the type team which will beat you with power, but they'll do it by converting your slightest mistake into touchdowns. Kentucky.

ALABAMA-MISSISSIPPI STATE—The Crimson Tide is about ready to explode and this may be its week. Slick Morton has done remarkably well at Mississippi State, but he just doesn't have the horses. Alabama.

LSU-NORTH CAROLINA—This one could be the upset of the week, but Georgia coaches who have played them both figure Justice is too much for the Bayou Tigers. LSU, like Georgia, needs only a quarterback to be a fine team. Carolina isn't great by any means, but it still has its Choo-Choo and he makes an average team good. North Carolina.

OLE MISS-TCU—Any team that can pass a lick seems to be able to score on Ole Miss, and the Horned Frogs have one of the better passing attacks. Student meets teacher when John Vaught pits his boys against Dutch Meyer, and it is likely the professor in this case will come out winner. TCU.

VANDERBILT-ARKANSAS—The Commodores are playing 'em week after week without a letup and such a schedule might catch up with them soon. But it's tough to figure just when that spot will be. So I'll string along with Vandy.

TULANE-AUBURN—That Notre Dame thing was all a mistake. Auburn isn't as good as it looked against Tech, although it is an improved ball club over the one which gave the Wave fits last year. Tulane will bounce back with mayhem in its heart. Tulane.

Brewer Owner Seeks To Hire Paul Richards

Condensed From AP, UP, INS Wire Reports

Paul Richards, former major league catcher and ex-Atlanta Cracker manager, can manage the Milwaukee Brewers next year and be "one of the highest priced managers in the American Association" if he wants to, according to Jake Flowers, the president of the Milwaukee club.

Flowers said that an offer will be made to Richards, if he doesn't land a major league job. He said that he had talked to Paul at the World Series and at that time, the latter had several big league possibilities. However, at the moment, the only opening is with the Cincinnati Reds.

Richards resigned several days ago as pilot of the Buffalo club of the International League. His team there copped the loop pennant this year.

OTHER BASEBALL—President Ford Frick, of the National League, said that he would be "unalterably opposed" to placing the umpiring staffs of the two major leagues under the authority of Gommissioner A. B. Chandler. Reports have been making the rounds that the Commissioner plans to introduce such action at the Winter meetings. "I would see it (such a move) as the first breaking down of competition between the leagues," said Frick, "and competition has been the foundation of the game. In my view, the function of the Commissioner's office is judicial, and not to take over the inner workings of the two leagues," he went on. President Will Harridge, of the American League, agreed with Frick on the idea, saying that "I am absolutely opposed to such a program." . . . President Bill Dewitt, of the Browns, said that several trades involving the club are "in the making." He said that he plans to announce next week just which Brownies will be put on the trading block. He said further that he turned down three good offers last Winter for Gerry Priddy and Bob Dillinger, two of the highest priced Brown players.

. . . Whitney Martin, of AP, wonders why Earl Mack voted for the firing of Earl Brucker and Al Simmons, A's coaches, when in the past he had depended so much on them.

GRID NOTES—The Richmond Rebels, of the American pro league, has won the first round of its court battle with the Washington Redskins over the services of Joel Williams, a center. A Federal District Court yesterday issued a temporary restraining order against his playing with the 'Skins. The Rebs charge that George Marshall, owner of the Washington club, "induced Williams to break a 1949 contract to play only in Richmond. The suit asks $10,000 damages from the Washington club. . . . Hugh Fullerton, Jr., of AP, reports several interesting football notes. William and Mary sent an open thank-you note to Michigan State for the Spartan's hospitality everywhere but on the field. . . . Promoters of Richmond's Tobacco Bowl festival want to get William and Mary and Virginia together next Fall. . . . Jerry O'Rourke, a 13-year-old junior high student from Boise, Idaho, is dead after receiving injuries in a school touch football game. He suffered brain hemorrhage.

THE ROUND-UP — Bewitch, four-year-old filly of Calumet's "first string" will be retired for breeding purposes. She will be shipped to Lexington to the Calumet Farm. . . . . Britain's Board of Control turned down a proposed match between World Bantamweight Champ Manuel Ortiz and London's Danny O'Sullivan for the title. Reason—Sullivan is slated to meet Stan Rowan, the British king.

Miami Downs Georgia, 13-9, in Major Upset

Butts' Boys Led at Half On Safety

By JOHN BRADBERRY
Constitution Sports Editor

ORANGE BOWL STADIUM, Miami—The story was written in the dejected look of the Georgia football team as it dragged off the field, not battered or hurt seriously, but mortally wounded in pride and thoroughly beaten, every way.

The score, as they turned the Orange Bowl into the mud bowl for two and a half hours, was 13-9—not bad in itself but utterly horrible as far as the Bulldogs were concerned since they were a solid two-touchdown favorite over Miami, an opportunist club which scored twice within two minutes of the third quarter for one of football season's most startling upsets.

Except for those two minutes, Georgia was a two-touchdown better team. A pair of mental lapses, neither of which could be charged to a fine Bulldog line, cost the game, a huge price but strictly in keeping with the way citizens of this fairyland make their living during the Winter season.

Maybe by now Georgia has learned the lesson: You can't come down here and regard Miami as a warmup or easy team. The sights are pretty to the visitor. But the trap is deadly and full of bait. The Bulldogs, experienced in such things over previous years, didn't exactly swallow the cheese, but it took a larger mouthful than it could handle. The trap sprung.

For some strange reason—which the Miami Chamber of Commerce is meeting in special session this morning to try and ascertain—it started to rain 15 minutes before kickoff and the cleat-scarred turf of the Orange Bowl was a mass of mud when they started.

And proof of Wally Butts' contentions that he had no passer was shortly forthcoming in the fact the Bulldogs didn't complete one until the first play of the fourth quarter.

You could, according to some football sources, blame it on the rain and mud. But from here, with the thought in mind that Georgia coaches and players would say the same thing, the field and ball was equally wet for both sides.

The Bulldogs reached the Miami 23-yard line the second time they got their hands on the ball but the attack fizzled. Then shortly later they went as far as the 22 in the first quarter but the offense gave out of gas.

The first score came after Pat Field had punted out of bounds on the Miami 10-yard line. Three plays against a hard-charging Georgia line, led by the baby-faced sophomore, Marion Campbell, gained eight yards and then Gene Chandler, who played a great game of defensive end for the Bulldogs, blocked Andy Novak's punt with considerable authority.

The ball bounded into the end zone, Novak recovered for a safety and two-point Georgia lead.

The Bulldogs came right back after Miami's free kick and drove 30 yards to the Hurricane 15, where they had first and 15. Most of the crowd of 37,138 figured Georgia would score and the dam would burst despite the mud and rain in the second half.

But Georgia didn't score as a fumble by Billy Mixon gave the Hurricanes the ball on its own 19.

At that, the Bulldogs went out at intermission with those two large points and Larry Costa and the other fellow who followed them down here, weren't too unhappy.

Then, as it seems to have a habit of doing, lightning struck the Bulldogs. The Hurricane moved from its own 25 after a Georgia punt for a touchdown.

Tulane Rates 4-Touchdown Choice Today

By F. M. WILLIAMS
Constitution Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Take it from Henry Frnka, himself, Tulane's Green Wave is ready to bounce back from its humiliating defeat at the hands of Notre Dame last week.

So the big, rugged Southeastern Conference powerhouse rates about a four-touchdown favorite over the Auburn Tigers in their annual game here today, but the rating is based entirely on ability, not on willingness to win.

The Wave has twice as many guns as Auburn, but Earl Brown, the young mentor of the team from the Plains, says he doesn't believe anybody has more heart. For that reason, although it has no right to do so, Auburn might make a contest of the battle for a part of the game.

A crowd of about 25,000 is expected to watch it.

Frnka, who talks willingly about team had two of the best scrimteam had two of the best crimmages of the year during the past week. He said:

"I believe our boys are ready to play a good game. They certainly have shown a great spirit this week.

"So far, we have been depending too much on our running game and as a result we've been working extra hard on passing. That hasn't been what we've expected it to be, but maybe we've made some improvements along this line."

That indicates he will try to best Auburn through the air, probably for two reasons. He wants to see if there has been any improvement in that department and he doesn't want to play his best runner, Eddie Price, if he can get away with it.

Price was banged up in the two big scrimmages, and although Frnka says he can play, he doesn't want him to.

The only Tulane man who likely won't see service is Dan Rogas, big tackle. Dan is the victim of a freak injury. As he was getting out of a chair to leave a classroom last week, high right knee locked on him and he had to be kept in a hospital for a day before the knee joint could be moved again.

Buford Trims GSD, 27 to 12

CAVE SPRINGS — Buford's Wolverines evened their season's record at 3-3 here yesterday afternoon with a 27-12 victory over the Georgia School for the Deaf.

The Wolves drove to two first-period scores, then added singles in both the second and third quarters for their victory. The Tigers, who had scored only one touchdown previously this season, tallied in the first and fourth quarters.

Dudge Pruitt scored twice for Buford, with Tom Robinson and Billy Hutchins ading single markers. All came on short plunges after sustained drives.

Quarterback Herb White raced 30 yards to one Tiger touchdown, while W. C. Wooten sprinted 20 to another.

Yellow Jackets, Gators Tangle in Gainesville

By GEORGE TISINGER
Constitution Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE, Fla.—You can believe this one or not, but down here where it's still sure enough Summer they are billing the annual battle today at 2:30 between the Engineers of Georgia Tech and the Gators of the University of Florida as a "battle of defense."

Florida, a team which has been heralded all year as having a magnificent backfield and in particular All-Southeastern Charlie Hunsinger, and Georgia Tech, with its pint-sized linemen who are only too few, but who boast a mighty scoring thrust both by land and by air, are expected to turn loose with all their guns. Everyboody here last night expected to see four of five touchdowns at least. Where the defense figures in this last analysis is that charging linemen block points after and fourth quarter goal line stands pay off.

There was certainly nothing downhearted about the locals here yesterday as the Georgia Tech team moved through town on their way to their short limbering up practice at the battle scene. The homecoming day crowd was already teed off and yells of "there's the 'Gator bait" rang out from all sides.

The Tech situation stands at just about the same as yesterday. Only Jacket who will see limited service is Halfback Red Patton who will dress but who still can't get around fast on that game leg he received in the Auburn game. Coach Bobby Dodd said Patton's only chance of seeing service this afternoon was to kickoff a time or two. But it doesn't seem like he will be able to do even that.

Reserve End George Gilbreath, who was hit on his shoulder during the brief scrimmage Wednesday, apparently is fully recovered, so if the call comes for George, he is likely to be ready for anything

The Jackets, who had to play Vanderbilt with 29 men and Tulane with 30-odd, are apt to have to use all the 41 players they brought down due to the energy-sapping heat, which was all too apparent yesterday during the pre-game practice. It will be a super-human effort by any man if he has to play 60 minutes of the kind of football expected here tomorrow in this heat.

The Alligators have been charging hard during the past two weeks, and now they have arrived at the point they have hoped to reach. Two weeks ago when they tied Auburn 14 to 14 they got awfully angry with themselves and took it out on the Vandy Commodores last Saturday.

Vandy just managed to squeeze through in the late minutes with a touchdown drive that brought them from behind to a few-point victory. And this was done without the services of That Man Hunsinger, who was sitting on the sidelines nursing a bruised hip.

Hunsinger is ready for the Techs and Coach Dodd knows it. That's the reason he made his cautious statement last night that "we have a tough day tomorrow. We must stop Hunsinger who is a threat every time he gets his hands on the ball and don't forget there are plenty of other good men on the Florida team. We'll just have to try to watch all of them and do the best we can."

One writer here predicted either a close Florida victory or a runaway for Tech. And he may have the right slant. Most all the folks concede Florida a score or two. They seem to think that if the 'Gators get them and can hang on with that "defense" they may come through. On the other hand, they figure that if the Techs repeat last year's performance and get a couple of quick ones they may run away with the locals in the manner of the rout of 1948 in Atlanta.

Nevertheless, the game is still being quoted as 13 points in favor of the Yellow Jackets but anybody quoting you those odds will come back with the statement that it is Florida's Homecoming Day and they are ripe for revenge for the many trouncings suffered at the hands of the Atlantans.

Most famous guest here for the homecoming celebration is Vice President Alben Barkley who received an honorary degree here last night.

The game has been a sellout for three days and there just "ain't no more tickets," Florida officials say. There'll be something like 27,000 out this afternoon to see what happens in the game which has been built up into a revenge battle and one about which it has been whispered that several coaching gentlemen down here are depending on for their jobs.

Model Blasts LaFayette 18-0

By LEONARD WHITE
Special to The Constitution

SHANNON — Model's Blue Devils notched their third straight victory here yesterday afternoon as the blasted the LaFayette Ramblers, 18-0.

Kilgore paced the Devil attack, scoring two touchdowns and offering a constant threat throughout the game. In the opening period, he raced around right end to the Rambler 20, then covered the remaining distance on another end sweep.

After a scoreless second period, which saw both teams hampered by numerous fumbles, Model tallied again in the third with Heartline bulling through guard from 15 yards out.

Kilgore accounted for the third touchdown, racing 35 yards off tackle in the final period.

LaFayette's most serious drive came late in the game, with Jackson shifted to fullback from tackle. He bulled his way to the Model 10, but time ran out and the game ended.

Green shared offensive honors with Kilgore for Model, while Niles and Scott paced the Rambler attack.

Score by quarters:

Tampans Defeated By O'Keefe

TAMPA—A brilliant 71-yard dash by Marvin Smith in the final quarter last night provided the margin of victory as O'Keefe's Irish downed the Hillsborough Terriers, 21-14 in an inter-State prep grid battle.

A crowd of about 8,500 fans saw the game.

Hillsborough scored in the second quarter when Jack Custer piled across from the one-yard line. Late in the quarter, O'Keefe tied the score on a pass from Warren Harper to Jimmerson.

James Smith bucked over from the one for O'Keefe's second score in the third quarter after Harper had intercepted a Terrier pass.

Marvin Smith streaked 71 yards in the early part of the final period after James Smith had intercepted a Hillsborough pass on the 29. The long touchdown run provided the winning margin as Hillsborough came back in the closing minutes to score after Harper fumbled, with Sloan passing to Butler for the touchdown.

Decatur Clips Russell, 21-12

By GORDON SAWYER

Unbeaten Decatur had to come from behind late in the ball game last night to beat a determined Russell High School, 21 to 12.

The big blue team muscled two touchdowns over in the last period to top Russell's Wildcats after an intercepted pass in the third left Decatur on the small end of a 12-to-7 count.

The powerful Decatur eleven opened the ball game by tromping to a touchdown early in the first quarter, and left 4,000 fans at Russell Stadium thinking the game would be a walkaway. Russell took the opening kickoff and Decatur promptly forced them to punt Larry Morris, Courts Redford and Dick Popwell led the charge to the 20 where Redford slipped off left tackle behind solid blocking and raced to pay dirt. Captain Butch Dowman kicked the point to make it seven.

But the Gold-shirted Russell squad was undaunted. Lithe Jerry Saunders opened the second period with a 24 yard jaunt to his own 44 and started a drive that ended when Charles Nabors pounded seven yards over right guard for a touchdown. The extra point plunge at center fell short.

Decatur started another drive in the second but it was plugged at midfield when Russell Fullback Hal Homer slammed Dowman for a yard loss on fourth down.

Decatur started the second quarter with a pounding drive up the center, but it was abruptly checked when Russell Center Jim Hennessy plucked a David Redford pass out of the air on his own 40, took advantage of a hard block by End Mack Johnson and danced 60 yards to the goal. Robert Smith's kick was wide, but the fans were out of their seats as Decatur trailed 12 to 7.

The Bulldogs, unaccustomed to the short end of a score, set out late in the third quarter with a 72-yard drive that ended early in the final period when Quarterback David Redford plowed over from the five. Dowman again kicked the point.

Decatur's final score came a few minutes later when David Campbell took Robert Smith's punt on his 40 and started the long trail back. A series of line plays, spiced with a pass, sent the team to the two where Courts Redford drove over. Dowman kicked his third extra point high and true through the uprights to make it 21.

The Wildcats came back with a whirlwind drive but didn't have the punch necessary to get past the big blue line, and the ball went over on Decatur's 33 in the fading moments of play.

Central High Hands Marist Another Loss

PHENIX CITY, Ala.—Central High's Red Devils outscored Marist here last night, 14 to 6, and it might have been worse had it not been for the gifted foot of Marist's Allen Morris.

In nine kicks, two of them into the end zone and three out of bounds, Morris compiled an outstanding average of 40.4 yards per boot.

Action was slow starting, but when the dam broke it crumbled in grand fashion. The first quarter was touch-and-go, with neither team massing a threat, and it was that way deep into the fourth quarter.

With seven plays to go in the half, here's the way they went:

On a bad pass from center, Central recovered on Marist's 34, with Rhodes falling atop the leather. A pass, from Conners to Dixon, carried 21 yards. Thompson got five at the line, and on another pass interference was ruled and the ball was at the Marist five. Sidall toted it over.

Central kicked poor, to the Marist 45. Morris whipped one to Hair and it went to the 16. Morris uncorked again and Hair coralled again, and it was a touchdown.

The third quarter was another of those push-and-shovel periods with only one threat. Sidall went over, but the play was called back on a holding charge. They did not score in the quarter.

In the fourth, Gunn fumbled for Marist on his own 35. Rhodes again did the recovering. In six plays, Central had another score. The potent punch was a pass, from Conners to Dixson from the 17.

Mathews and Justice Star for Fitzgerald

MOULTRIE — The Fitzgerald Hurricans defeated the Moultrie Packers here last night, 19-0. The game was scoreless in the first half but in the third quarter Moultrie fumbled on their own 45 after receiving a punt and the Hurricanes recovered. "Choo-Choo" Justice romped over for the first score. Mathews kicked extra point. In the fourth quarter Justice threw a 35-yard pass to Mathews, who tallied. Last touchdown was made by Mathewson a 73-yard run around end.

Ronald Tucker, right end, was outstanding player for the Packers.

GMC Trounces Biltmore, 40-12

MILLEDGEVILLE — Georgia Military College's Bulldogs, featuring a 100-yard kickoff return in the third period by Gene Finch, rapped out a 40-12 victory over the Biltmore Junior College, of Asheville, N. C., here last night.

Finch also reeled off 66 yards for the third period score after his sensational 100-yarder. Bill Derring intercepted a pass on his own 25 in the second period and galloped 75 yards for a score. Pete Coker went 23 for the first tally and made the last marker on a 40-yard run. Vining recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for the other GMC score in the first period.

Trailing 40-0, Biltmore generated a third-period drive that was culminated by Gradman's one-yard plunge for touchdown. Three big penalties against GMC helped Biltmore reach the GMC five in the fourth quarter and Powers went over for the touchdown.

Dallas Tramples Villa Rica, 34-12

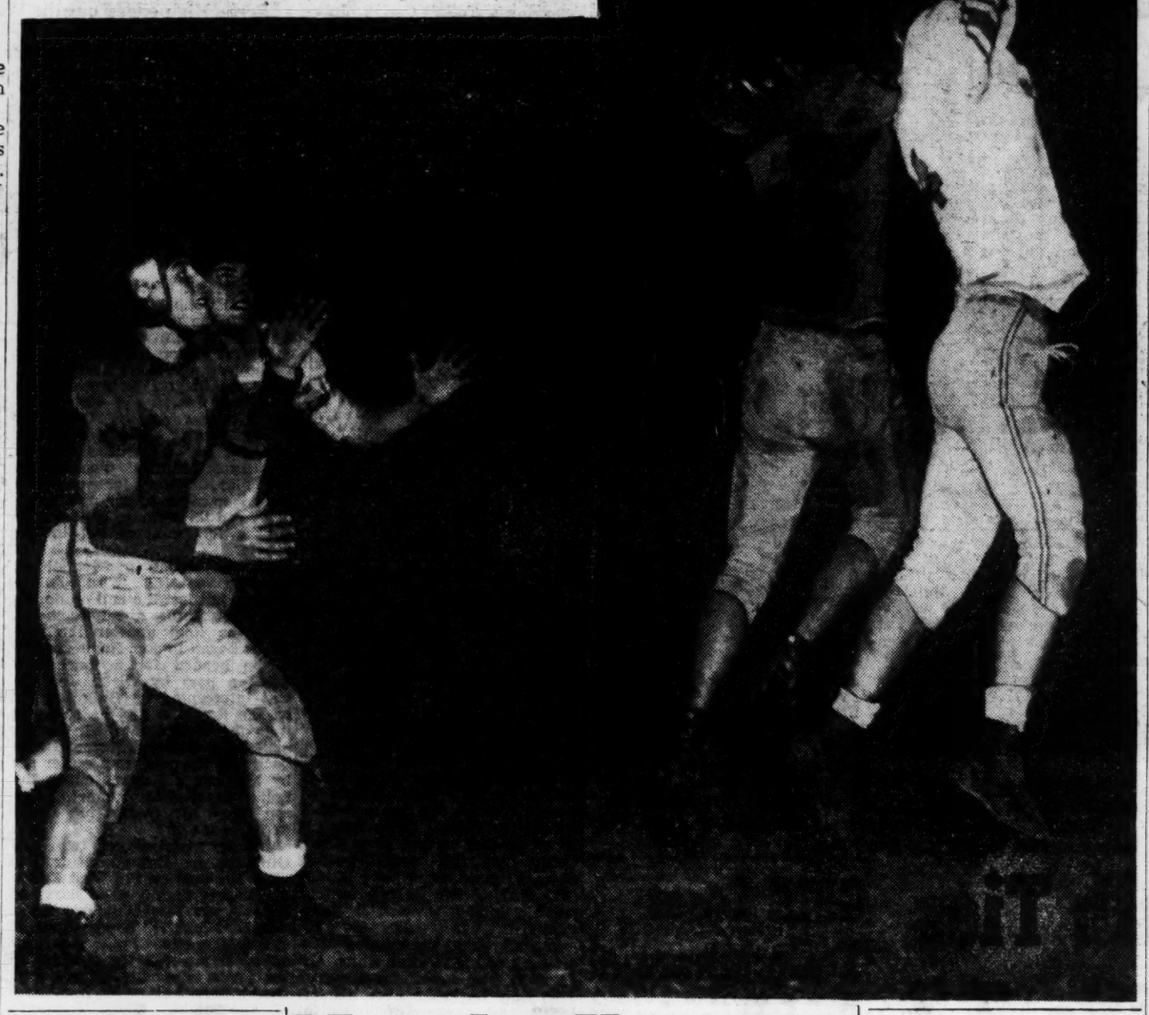

DALLAS — The Dallas Tigers marked up another victory last night by defeating Villa Rica 34-12.

Dallas scored three times in the first quarter. Harold Clay made the first touchdown on a five-yard run, and Fred Durham made the extra point on a plunge. Donald Sosebee intercepted one of Villa Rica's passes and galloped 50 yards for second touchdown, while Fred Durham ran extra point. Franklin Davis made next score, Bennett Morris the extra point. Earl Moore plunged for the fourth touchdown and also extra point. Bennett Morris skirted 65 yards for last tally.

Scoring touchdowns for Villa Rica were Bob Hamrick and Daniel Mitchell.

MURPHY END INTERCEPTS PASS—Bobby Helms, Murphy end, is shown as he leaps into the air to take a pass out of the hands of a Smith player in the second quarter of last night's game at Grady Stadium. It happened on the Murphy 35-yard line. Murphy then marched to the Smith nine, where Smith took the ball on a pass interception.

Mason Stars As Rockmart Trims Athens

ROCKMART—Athens went tumbling here last night before the fancy running of Rockmart's Max Mason 26 to 0.

The first score came after an Athens punt in the first quarter. Mason returned it eight, Max Gore went 15, Elliott snatched the ball on an end-around and picked up 40, Gore bulled for 4, and Mason galloped the last 12. He missed the extra point.

In the second quarter, Mason went 35 yards to the golden land, and Hooper swept 30 yards for another. Mason kicked the extra point here.

On a play from scrimmage, Mason hipped it for 50 yards and the final score in the third quarter. Mason booted the extra. Rockmart played reserves in the fourth period and an Athens drive was blunted at the 30 for the visitors' largest threat.

Outstanding, defensively, for Rockmart were Elliott, Billy Powell, right tackle, Capt. Paul Head, guard, in the line. Mighty pert at line-backing were Rockmart's Bobby Camp, quarterback, and Gore.

Red Fulcher was the most outstanding player in the Athens backfield.

A regional game, the contest was witnessed by 3,000.

Murphy Upsets Smithies, 7 to 0

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Smith High's usually dangerous football team made more mistakes than a waitress from the "Greasy Spoon" on her first night at the Waldorf last night, and the alert Murphy Eagles dipped into the dope bucket and pulled out a prime 7-0 upset before some 4,000 unbelieving fans at Grady Stadium.

The Smithies, considered the City League's biggest threat to the continued domination by the Brown Rebels, didn't threaten to do anything but play soccer with that odd-shaped ball they were using and go home early after the game as they bowed from championship contention for the moment.

It appeared for three quarters that no one was going anywhere in particular except the coaches and the fans. The coaches were going crazy and the fan were going to the corner drugstore for a double malted to forget about it all.

The coaches were tearing their hair out as they watched their charges fumble the ball from one end of the field to the other and their passers throw the ball into the arms of fellows wearing the wrong colored jerseys.

The Eagles pounced on four Smith fumbles and hawked the ball with utter abandon to intercept three enemy aerials. The Smithies retaliated by latching onto two Eagle heaves and one Eagle bobble.

But for all the bumbling, stumbling, fumbling football displayed, the final quarter was a real thriller in which the always pressing Eagles intercepted two Smithie flings and coiled around two "fielding miscues," converting one of the Smith fumbles into a touchdown which required just five yards to manufacture.

The Smithies, led by Center Leon Cunningham, had just made a great goal line stand that held the Eagles for four straight downs at the Smithie one-yard line and taken over the ball on downs when it happened.

A Smithie fumble was pounced upon by Murphy's Joe Willingham at the Smith five-yard stripe. One play lost a yard before Bob Wolff, who completed 10 of 20 passes for 142 yards, hit Colvin Heist in the flat for two yards and then Bill Conley on the other side for the TD. Willingham booted the extra point with nine minutes and 40 seconds left, and that proved to be the ball game.

The Smithies, playing without the services of End Jack Odum and punter Butch Bohannon, never seemed to get organized in the face of a hard-charging Eagle line, spearheaded by Conley, Big Earl Pieper and Buck Bradberry. They stayed in the hole so much that passer Richard Bonner never did get to throw much until late in the game, and when he did try it there seemed to be no receivers to hit.

Those passes of Wolff further disorganized the Smithies and really were the deciding factor, because Leon Cunningham, Harry Lovell, Pig Crane and Company weren't letting the Eagles go anywhere on the ground either. Lovell blocked one punt try by Harry Edwards in the first half and it put the Eagles in their deepest trouble.

There were a number of threats by both teams, but the punch always was lacking.

The first threat was by the Smithies late in the first period after Lovell blocked that punt to give his team possession on the enemy 25. Grady Waters ran for 12, Lawrence Warren seven and Waters two, but Conley tackled Waters for no gain no fourth down on the third play of the second stanza just four yards shy of pay dirt.

Catlin, Bonner and Waters brought the ball right back downfield when Murphy kicked out, but Wolff grabbed Warren's fumble four yards from the cashier's window again.

Murphy, sparked by Wolff's 15 and 35-yard aerials to Bobby Helms and Conley, respectively, barged 50 yards to the Smithie nine just before intermission, but Martin Allen put an end to that by intercepting a Wolff aerial and racing it out to the Smithie 38. It was four plays later that Conley nabbed up a fumble by Bonner at the Smithie ten on the last play in the half.

Both teams were harmless in the third period until just before the final chapter was ready to unfold. Wolff put the Eagles on their way with 24 and 26-yard aerial clips to Heist and Conley, his favorite traget, to put the ball two yards from a touchdown. Then, as the fourth period started, the Smithies made that great goal-line stand. Then came the fumble and the touchdown.

Alton Hudson took the subsequent kickoff and threw it backwards to Warren, who never got possession. Willingham was on the bounding ball in nothing flat at the Smithie 32, and they were in trouble again.

Willingham raced 17 but the attack bogged when he missed a field goal try when the ball was at the Smithie 11. After that Earl Alliston was to intercept a Bonner pass, Wolff was to grab still another and Martin Allen was to recover a Murphy fumble, all in the late stages of the final wild and woolly period.

Wolff, Willingham and Conley without a doubt were the Eagles most shining lights.

LaGrangeCops Sixth in Row

LaGRANGE—Coach Oliver Hunnicutt's LaGrange Grangers stretched their victory streak to six in a row here last night when they edged by the Rebels of R. E. Lee, 13-6.

The Grangers crossed the double stripes first in the second period when Billy Hester galloped 50 yards through left tackle. Rudolph Williams blocked a Lee punt on the Lee 15 and recovered to set up the second tally in the fourth period. Two plays netted five yards and then the ball was given to John Dodd, who fumbled over the goal line, but recovered for a touchdown.

"Flash" Whitten flashed to Lee's lone marker in the third period when he broke through the Granger line and headed for glory, 79 yards distant.

Canton Overwhelms McHenry County

CANTON—Halfback Harry White scored two touchdowns in four minutes here last night to lead Canton's Greenies to a 32-0 massacre over McHenry.

Back Ferral Sparks made a sensational 60-yard touchdown run on the second play from scrimmage for six of the 20 points the winners registered in the opening quarter.

Canton, substituting freely throughout, didn't tally again until the final stanza but it scored twice on runs by Fullback N. J. Willbanks, and Richard Hammond.

Georgetown Edges Boston College 10-7

BOSTON—(AP)—Dick Haesler place-kicked Georgetown into a 10-7 victory over Boston College with a fourth period 20-yard field goal last night at Braves Field. Both of those Jesuit rivals registered their touchdowns in the opening session, Boston College overland and Georgetown mostly by air.

N. Fulton Beats Marietta, 13 to 0

MARIETTA—North Fulton's Bulldogs broke through a tenacious Marietta defense in the first and fourth quarters to defeat a hard-fighting Blue Devil eleven, 13-0, here last night.

The Blue Devils repulsed the visitors in the shadow of the goal posts five times, and they just missed thwarting the Bulldogs on their touchdown plays. Both came on fourth down.

Gordon Malloy, who was the outstanding back for North Fulton, passed to Bob Turner for the first score as Turner made a perfect catch. It was made from the five-yard line in the first period.

Marietta then stopped North Fulton on the eight-yard line and again on the three in the second quarter.

But in the fourth period, the Bulldogs were on the Marietta 11-yard line on fourth down, and Malloy flipped an aerial to Arthur Newton for the score. Ted Echols converted to make the count 13-0.

Malloy was a consistent gainer all night and his longest run was for 33 yards. Ed Hamilton passed to Billy Mitchell for 11 yards to put the Bulldogs within scoring range in the first quarter. Thorn Winter did a fine job of fullbacking.

A North Fulton kick that seemed headed for the end zone stopped suddenly on the Marietta two-yard line in the fourth quarter to put the Devils in a hole. A poor kick out to the 35 gave the Bulldogs the ball there and they marched on down for their second touchdown.

Marietta threatened twice, going to the Bulldog 24 just before the final gun, and again reaching the 37 in the third quarter.

Dan Theodocian, center; Bill Young, tackle, and Ernest Robertson, tackle, did themselves proud with their great goal line defensive play. W. M. Hughes went 13 yards for the best Marietta run and Bill Carrington connected with Richard Scott for two good passes that counted 22 yards and 10 yards. These were Marietta's best offensive efforts.

WEST POINT—Sophmore back Fob James, a fleet footed 155-pounder ran wild here last night as the Red Devils of West Point rolled up their twenty-second consecutive victory without a defeat by soundly thumping the Tigers of Douglasville High, 34-0, before a crowd of 2,000 fans.

James took the opening kickoff, set his sights on the goal line, 80 yards away. His swivel hips shook off several tacklers as he pranced goalward. A few plays later, he broke off tackle and galloped 35 yards for another.

In the third period, he brought the fans to their feet with another of his goalward dashes by going 65 yards for another. The fans had not settled back in their seats good when he took a lateral at his own eight-yard line and pranced 92 yards for another. Claude Kimsey tallied the other touchdown on a 52-yard run with an intercepted pass.

Elks' Medalist Beaten in First Match Round

By BERT PRATHER

R. W. Dillinger, of Rome, loomed as a definite threat to carry off the championship cup in the first annual Southeastern Elks golf tournament following his 1-up victory over Medalist Owen Thomas in the first round of play yesterday afternoon at North Fulton Golf Course.

Dillinger will tangle with East Point's Jeff Wallis at 10 a. m. today in what may be the feature second round battle as the tournament shifts out to Meadow Brooks, formerly Black Rock Country Club, for the final two days of play.

Advancing with Dillinger were a pair of other well-backed players—George Rice, Rome, and Louie Hill. Rice downed Jack Reynolds, Gainesville, 2-1, while Hill disposed of Eph Matthews, 3-2.

One of the hardest fought battles of the day was staged by Al Ross, the tournament's General Chairman, and Edward Moser, of Hollywood, Fla. Ross won on the eighteenth when Moser missed a two-foot putt. Ross is one of the survivors in the first flight.

The first twosome is scheduled to face Starter Rabbit Smith at 9:10 o'clock this morning.

First round results:

Fulton Trounces Dalton As Hugh Hobbs Shines

By MARK PACE

DALTON—From the opening kickoff until the final whistle, Fulton High, of Atlanta, outplayed the Dalton Catamounts and left no doubts in the minds of 3,000 fans here last night that it was the superior team.

Fulton won, 25-12, and thus gained its third win of the current campaign by scoring in every period of the Region 3A contest.

The Redbirds took the opening kickoff and marched 85 yards for an early touchdown. Hugh Hobbs, who was by far the outstanding back on the field, led the ground attack by consistently ripping through the middle. Quarterback Roy Martin climaxed the drive by scoring from the seven and then he converted for a 7-0 lead.

Lloyd Britt provided the impetus for Fulton's second quarter tally when he faded back to his own 28 and passed to End Herbert O'Neil for 32 yards. O'Neil grabbed it on the Dalton 40 and raced over for the touchdown.

After an exchange of kicks Halfback Howard Holt brought the partisan spectators to their feet when he received one of Howard Hobb's punts at his 30, sidestepped his way to midfield, picked up several blockers, and galloped to pay dirt on a spectacular 70-yard run.

That ended the scoring for the half but the Redbirds gave a repeat performance in the third quarter by taking the kickoff and driving all the way. The sustained drive covered 63 yards and Hobbs was again the leader of the attack. Halfback Frank Stallings went over from the one.

Midway in the final period the visitors romped for their final touchdown on a 48-yard drive which again found Stallings the paymaster. He bulled his way over on a two-yard buck.

The Cantamounts were unable to even slightly mar the Redbird line, so they took to the air late in the final period when Holt hurled to End Lynn Turner. That play set up a touchdown and Dalton cashed in when Holt ran over from the five.

Hapeville Rolls Over Bremen

By JOHN TARBOX

Hapeville's scoring machine, Touchdown Totin' Cotton Johnson, was too much for a strong Bremen passing attack last night as Hapeville downed the Bremen eleven 28 to 19.

Some 1,500 fans were treated to a scoring duel which saw Johnson score all of his team's TDs on runs of 34 yards or better, while Bremen rolled up 153 yards on eight completed passes, and three scores.

Bremen received the kickoff and started to move on the strength of two 18-yard pass completions, Ridley Parrish to Hugh Coats. However, they lost the ball on a fumble at the Hapeville 36. Heyward Upchurch picked up seven and Ted Reep five to leave them 64 yards from pay dirt. On the next play Johnson gave an inkling of what was to come by going around his own right end to cover the distance. As on all his scoring jaunts he was aided by some good blocking by Upchurch, Dave Mobley, and Bud Jones. He also ran for the point.

BREMEN		HAPEVILLE

Bremen came right back from the kickoff on the first play. This time a Parrish to Coats pass netted 49 giving them the ball on the Hapeville 13. Bobby Morris got two, Edward Bonner five, and then Morris reached pay dirt from the six on a cut back over tackle. The try for point was no good.

Hapeville fumbled the ensuing kickoff with Bremen recovering at the Hapeville 40. David Camp picked up five. Parrish then hit Dwain Overton for five and Morris got two more. Coats then got 22 on an end around after which Camp got the score putting Bremen ahead on a yard plunge over tackle. Morris ran for the point making it Bremen 13 Hapeville 7.

Jones brought the ensuing kickoff back to his 34 after which Mr. Johnson was heard from again. This time he broke over his left tackle and appeared stopped at his 45, but bulled his way through and was off to the races. Mobley ran for the point, after which the quarter ended.

Things were pretty quiet until midway in the third quarter when with the ball on the Hapeville 47, Johnson took off for a 53-yard jaunt around his right end. Upchurch ran for the point.

Bremen stayed in there fighting and forced their opponents to punt from their 41. Bremen's line broke through and blocked Reep's kick with Camp picking up the ball at the Hapeville 25 and running it across for his team's final score.

Shortly before the end Hapeville started from their own 17 and worked it up to the Bremen 36, from whence, you guessed it, Johnson chalked up the remaining yardage on a cut back over tackle. Upchurch upset three opponents on this one and then picked himself up and ran for the point, making it the final: Hapeville 28, Bremen 19.

Jimmy Sever, for Hapeville, and Camp, for Bremen, were particularly outstanding on defense, Sever keeping the Bremen passers constantly hurried while Camp was the chief thorn in the path of the Hapeville running attack.

Rome Edges Out West Fulton, 14-6

By JESSE BRADSHAW

Rome High edged out the West Fulton Owls last night on the West Fulton gridiron, 14-6. Bobby Gilliland was the difference between the two teams. His sweeps around end kept the West Fulton team in hot water all night.

West Fulton scored first in the opening quarter on a fifty yard march with Sonny Conn and Jim Strange leading the way. The march was all on the ground with the exception of one pass Brooks to Strange good only for five yards. The Owls had it first and ten on the Hilltoppers 15. Strange bit center for two and Conn made it a first down by going off tackle to the one.

Strange hit center for no gain and then Conn went over for the score on the next play. Strange's try for the point after was wide and West Fulton led 6-0.

The lead was short lived for on the next kickoff Bobby Aycock took it on his 30 and went down the sidelines to the Owls 33. Bobby Frasier then skirted his left end for the touchdown. He had some beautiful blocking on the play. Glenn Johnson then passed to Aycock for the extra point and the Romans led 7-6 with only a few minutes left in the quarter.

In the second quarter Rome marched to the West Fulton twenty, but lost the ball on downs two plays before the half ended.

In the final quarter the fireworks began to pop. Rome seemed to be headed for a touchdown when a pass by Glenn Johnson was intercepted by Billy Ralston on the Rome 35 and he returned it to the West Fulton 41. On the next play Bobby Thurmond was back and the pass from center got by him and a Roman fell on the ball at the Owl 42. Kenneth Johnson then hit center for thirty yards to the 12.

Jimmy Thacker got two and Gilliland six through center to place the oval on the West Fulton 4. Thacker then tried to skirt end but he ran into O'Shields for a four-yard loss. Gilliland got six at end to the two. Rome was penalized five yards for off-sides to the seven. Kenneth Johnson then went around end for the final score of the night. Glenn Johnson's kick was good and Rome led 14-6 with time running out in the quarter.

West Fulton took the kick-off on the four and returned to the 20. Three passes gave the Owls a first down on the Rome 27. Hubert Brooks hit Johnny Pearson with a bullet down to the four. Another pass, this time Brooks to Strange, was good to the six-inch line as the game ended.

In the way of statistics the Owls had the margin. In first downs it was 14 to 9 West Fulton. And in passing Rome only tried two with no completions while the Owls were throwing the pigskin 15 times with eight completions good for 86 yards.

College Park Rams Trim Campbell Hi

By TEDDY HIGHTOWER

College Park High's Rams went on the rampage last night as they trimmed Campbell High, 27-0, before 2,500 eager fans at the College Park Stadium. College Park racked up 468 net yards rushing and completed three out of four passes for 55 yards.

STATISTICS

55	Yards Passed	47

The Rams scored early in the first quarter, four plays after they took over on the Campbell 30-yard stripe. Halfback James Alexander furnished the touchdown as he drove over from the one-yard line, and End Robert Griswald took a pass from Russell Johnson for the extra point.

The next tally came several minutes later after a drive from the Bear 28-yard line. Halfback Ralph Harris went 17 yards to the Campbell 11 for a first down. Three plays later, Alexander drove over from the one for his second touchdown. Griswald made the extra point as he took a pass from Nick Nichols.

Kirby Collier scored the third Ram touchdown. He raced over from the Campbell 25-yard line on the first play of the fourth period. Fullback Cedric Couch furnished the extra point on a run around right end.

Three plays later, Halfback Larry Thomas made the most spectacular play of the contest when he intercepted a Campbell pass on the Bear 20-yard stripe and raced 80 yards to the pay stripes.

Outstanding on offense for the Rams were Kirby Collier, James Alexander, Larry Thomas, Ralph Harris, and Fullback Cedric Couch.

Quarterback Harper and End Jernagan stood out for Campbell on offense.

Gordon Lee Topples Trion, 7-0

TRION—Gordon Lee's Trojans capitalized on a fumble in the waning minutes of play to knock favored Trion from the ranks of the undefeated here last night, 7 to 0.

The Trojans, beaten twice and tied once previously this season, scored when Lebron Fouts hopped on a bobbled pitchout in the Bulldog end zone. Granville Baker converted and that was that.

It was terrific defensive battle, with Gordon Lee shackling Trion's high scoring John Robert Lee and limiting the Bulldogs to five first downs. The Trojans made seven.

Mac Hankins intercepted a Trojan pass at his six to setup the costly fumble. On the first play, Malcolm Nelson attempted a pitchout to Lee but the ball was high and eluded the Trion ace. Fouts was there.

Earlier, Gordon Lee had driven to the Trion 12 only to be halted by a 15-yard penalty. Trion's chief threat came late in the second quarter when a blocked punt gave them the ball at the Trojan 30. Four plays netted only eight yards, however, and the ball went over.

Both lines were outstanding, with Trion's Joe Young leading the Bulldogs' charge. Top backs were Larry Bohannon of the Bulldogs, and Dan Peeler, of the Trojans.

MIAMI WINS

ning, speedy fullback, started things with a six-yard end sprint before Claud Hipps tackled him. Clyde Shrader went for five more and a first down at the Miami 36. Jack Hackett lost six yards as Campbell tackled him on a passing attempt but then Campbell ran for a first down at the Bulldog 47.

Hackett then tossed a pass to Mike Vacchio who had gotten behind the Georgia right side back. He threw a rather wobbly pass. Eli Maricich and Ken McCall ran together trying to get it and blocked each other. Vacchio caught it on the Bulldog 11-yard line and stepped across for the score which put Miami ahead, 6-2. Campbell blocked Watson's extra point attempt.

Even then, Georgia didn't appear too disturbed. There was still lots of time to play and the Bulldogs were handling everything the Hurricane threw at them from scrimmage.

But then fate took a hand and before you could count the score, Miami had another touchdown. Georgia took the kickoff and got back only to its own 20. Lukie Brunson ran for six but then Jack Brasington leaped up and intercepted Prosperi's pass on the Georgia 35 and ran to the nine before being tackled.

It took just one play from there, Campbell taking a lateral and speeding nine yards off Georgia's left tackle for the score. Watson kicked the extra point to make the score, 13-2.

The Miami people then turned the game over to Georgia. But the Bulldogs could cash their chips only once.

They took the kickoff after the Miami touchdown and made the finest sustained drive of the game from their own 27 to the Hurricane 11 before the ball went over on downs. Brunson and McHugh were the driving lights of the march, aided and abetted by the Georgia line which seemed to have developed a new ability to block.

But the drive fizzled and Miami took over on its own 11.

Georgia forced a punt from that point and McCall ran it back 10 yards to the Miami 42. Then Prosperi completed his first pass of the evening and it was a beauty.

He threw a long one to Breezy Reid who grabbed it on the Miami 10 and ran across the goal line. Walston's placement was partially blocked but it went through the uprights for the ninth and final Bulldog point.

Thereafter, the Bulldogs reached the Miami 22, 32 and 40-yard lines, each time with first down. But they failed on each attempt amid the roar of the crowd which, by now was sensing the season's upset. They got it.

Griffin Rolls Over Tough Cedartown

CEDARTOWN — Griffin's Gold Wave, sparked by the crafty running of Cecil Davis and Edwin Teal, ran over Cedartown's Bulldogs, 33-12, here last night.

This pair of sparkling backfielders scored all five of Griffin's touchdowns and Mathis added three extra points.

For Cedartown it was the brilliant play of Charles Earnest which stood out like a lighthouse even in defeat. Charles scored the homelings' first touchdown in the second quarter with an 88-yard runback of a kickoff. He also accounted for the other Bulldog marker by taking a pass from Ray Carter in the fourth quarter and racing across the double stripes. The latter play covered 51 yards in all.

The Gold Wave scored thirteen in the first quarter to practically clinch matters. Earnest Carlise recovered Wallace Davis' fumble on the Cedartown 39 and from there Griffin marched for a score. Cecil Davis plunged through center from the five and Mathis booted the point.

Griffin uncorked a 90-yard drive a few minutes later and scored when Cecil Davis plowed through tackle from the five.

In the second quarter, Davis set up another score when he ran 52 yards to the Bulldog 27. Eubanks and Cook worked it to the 20 from where Davis skipped off tackle for the remaining distance.

Earnest's touchdown followed in the same quarter for Cedartown, but Griffin made it 26-6 at the half when Harvey Mathis tossed a 35-yard aerial to Teal in the end zone and then added the extra point.

The third period was scoreless but Griffin matched Cedartown's score in the fourth on Teal's 13-yard scoring dash. Mathis again booted the point.

Griffin out first-downed the losers, 18 to 5.

Bobby Elmore, James Wood, John Conally and Don Stewart stood out in the Griffin forward wall.

SW DeKalb Ties Hogansville, 7-7

By BOB BOWEN

Southwest DeKalb's Panthers came from behind in the final two minutes of play last night to gain a 7-7 tie with a tough Hogansville team as the folks out at Panthersville celebrated "Appreciation Night."

Southwest, trailing since the first quarter, saw its first threat in that final period repelled by a penalty, but hopped on a Green Wave fumble a moment later and moved to the tying score. In the long run it was a tricky extra point play which paid off and provided the tying point.

With it 6-7, Buddy Butcher sprinted in from the bench, presumably to kick the point. But he didn't. Instead, Jimmy Watkins whipped a pass to Bubber Scott who took it at the goal line and stepped over.

Early in the fourth period, the Panthers drove to the Hoganville one foot line, only to be set back to the six by their only penalty of the night. That stopped the march, but it wasn't long until they were back.

Ray Staples set up that tying touchdown by covering a fumble at the 12. Merrill Clark took an aerial from Watkins for nine big yards and on the next play, Watkins plunged over. Then came the extra point play.

Hoganville had taken the lead in the first quarter on a 40-yard scoring drive. An exchange of punts put them in Southwest territory and Jim Green, Jack Zimmerman and Orin Jones quickly ran it to the six. Then Pete Norris covered the remaining distance on an end around.

Loy Neese, who has a broken collar bone and is used only for kickoffs and extra points, booted it through, and as later events showed, it was a mighty important boot.

Ceremonies between halfs constituted "Appreciation Night." The gates were open to everybody and a record crowd turned out. Marcus Buttrill, one of the city fathers of Panthersville, presided and J. E. Clowdis was honored for his work in developing the field and plant. It is the only lighted football and baseball field in DeKalb County.

Incidentally, the spirit of the city was expressed when contributions more than covered the guarantee given Hogansville for the game.

9 More Enter Sunday Race

Seven out-of-State entries yesterday highlighted the news about the 150-mile strictly stock car national championship race at the Lakewood Speedway Sunday afternoon.

Added to the entry list were Frank Winkley and Larry Royall, Minneapolis, Minn.; Ken. Wagner, Trenton, N. J.; Ray Erickson, Chicago, Ill.; Herbert Craig and Herschel Buchanan, Shreveport, La., and Otis Martin, Roanoke, Va.

Race officials also announced the entries of two Georgia speedsters, Charlie Tidwell, of Macon, and Roy Payne, of Dewey Rose. Tidwell will pilot a 1946 Mercury and Payne a 1946 Ford.

Wofford Runs String To 18 Grid Victories

CLINTON, S. C.—(AP)—Wofford College ran its undefeated football string to 18 games here last night at the 14-7 expense of Presbyterian College.

The Lakeview regulars did not see service in the contest but Bill Richardson, Junior Clark and Jimmy Hyatt took care of the offense in first string style. Richardson tallied three times, while Clark and Hyatt scored one touchdown each. Billy Hull took care of three conversions.

GMA Loses ToCommercial And Reagin

By JOHNNY HENDRIX
Special to The Constitution

SAVANNAH—If GMA, of College Park, never sees Billy Reagin again it will be okay with the Cadets. Commercial's one-man scoring machine made all 25 points to personally give his team a 25-12 victory before 3,000 fans here last night.

Reagin, a line-busting fullback, practically insured himself of a spot on the All-State team by smashing over for touchdowns of 11, 28, two and seven yards. Besides this, the Commercial offensive weapon made it a grand slam for the evening by converting one extra point.

Harold Scogin returned the opening kickoff 45 yards for GMA and before the Colras knew what happened, the Cadets had marched to the 17. The Commercial line dug in from here but the visitors crossed Commercial as Gaines Huguley rifled a touchdown pass to Scogin.

It was a bitter struggle until the Cobra line smashed GMA back to its 17 in the second quarter. Huguley attempted to run out of danger but was hit hard behind the scrimmage line, fumbled and Commercial's Buster Hall recovered at the 12.

Then the one-man offense went into high gear. In two plays, Reagin bulled his way over for the first phase of a devastating attack.

The Cadet line recuperated at intermission and was refreshed enough to block Reagin's punt early in the third period. The visitors recovered at the Commercial seven and Huguley scored on the first play from scrimmage.

Reagin took over from here and before the quarter had ended, he had sparked two sustained touchdown drives and made both scores, one on a brilliant 28-yard jaunt.

It was Reagin again in the fourth quarter. He battered the hapless Cadet line time and again and climaxed a 53-yard drive by racing over from the seven.

LakeviewSeconds Beat Dunlap, 33-0

ROSSVILLE — Lakeview High's Warriors defeated Dunlap, Tenn., High here last night, 33-0, to run their season's record to six victories, one loss and one tie.

Calhoun High Tops Cumming by 25 to 7

CALHOUN — The Yellow Jackets of Calhoun and The Bulldogs of Cumming tangled here last night and the Yellow Jackets won 25-7. Rex Meadows passed to Paul McIntyre for the first touchdown and Jerry Southerland followed up with a hand off for the second. Repeating in the third quarter, McIntyre received a pass from Meadows and skirted for third tally, while Jimmy McClurd scored extra point on a pass. Charles Moore made the last touchdown for the Yellow Jackets.

Scoring for Cumming was Loggins on a pass from Carr who also kicked the extra point.

Ex-Spar Mate Upsets Gavilan

DETROIT—(AP)—Young Lester Felton, a comparative newcomer from Detroit, turned in an upset 10-round decision over Kid Gavilan of Cuba last night before 13,187 fans at Olympia. Gavilan is currently the No. 1 contender for Sugar Ray Robinson's welterweight title.

The 20-year-old Felton, who used to be one of Gavilan's sparring partners, won his scrap by simply outrunning the harder-running Gavilan and landing more punches while doing it.

Temple Outclasses R. I. State, 47 to 6

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Temple University, in control of the air and the ground and abundant in reserves, outclassed Rhode Island State 47-6 last night to gain its fourth consecutive football victory.

SHERRY AUTREY STARS

Manchester Trounces Carrollton High, 40-6

By BOB CHRISTIAN
Constitution Sports Writer

MANCHESTER—Carrollton High's Trojans thought they had found the road to victory over the Manchester Blue Devils here last night when they jumped to a six-point lead in the first period. But before the night was over the Blue clad lads had put a road block on the highway and detoured the visitors to a sound 40-6 defeat.

Carrollton opened the scoring orgy midway in the opening stanza when Sherry Autrey fumbled at the Manchester 15. Copeland, of Carrollton, pounced on the oval and seven plays later Carrollton's Roy Riggs smashed over the double stripes from one yard out.

This must have made the Manchester lads angry. For they roared back, with Marvin Waller romping 75 yards for a touchdown to stop a Carrollton threat and four plays later Waller raced 27 yards for another after a penalty and a 16-yard run by Autrey had set the ball in scoring position.

Waller pranced 26 yards again to climax a 70-yard drive to make the scoreboard read, Manchester 20, Carrollton 6.

In the third period Manchester marched 63 yards, with Autrey, a sparkplug in the homelings' offense all night, going over from six yards out to make it 27-6. Ray Maffield pranced 11 yards for the first TD for Manchester and Bobby Baker wound up the night's scoring with a six-yard end sweep in the final period.

Cartersville Tops Summerville

CARTERSVIILE — Victory Varney's Cartersville eleven surged 80 yards to score a touchdown in the last five minutes here tonight to shade Summerville, 19-15, in one of the most thrilling finishes of the year.

Bobby Dodd, whose passing was a highlight of the fray, sparked the winning surge and Slick Tatum punched over the tally and kicked the extra point.

Pat Whitworth and Lamar Leachman, who also were outstanding on offense, tallied the first two Cartersville touchdowns in the opening quarter.

Brooke Pierce's Indians scored touchdowns in the first and third quarters with Dacus and Burch making the scores. They added a safety in the final go-round when Land was tackled in the end zone on a kickoff.

WITH ATLANTA CHURCHES

Healing Revival Set For Tabernacle Here

The Assembly of God Tabernacle will begin a great Salvation-Divine Healing Revival Thursday evening with one of America's outstanding evangelists, Rev. Gayle Jackson, of Sikeston, Mo., leading the services.

At the Sunday night services, Col. John Fain will be the guest speaker at the Assembly of God Tabernacle.

Revival To Close

Final services in the revival which has been in progress during the past two weeks at the Baptist Tabernacle will be held at 10:30 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. Dr. Clifford Lewis, of Winona Lake, Ind., will preach.

Orchard Knob Revival

Revival services will be held at the Orchard Knob Baptist Church, Humphries Dr., S. E., beginning tomorrow and continuing through Nov. 2. The Rev. Isaac Terrell, of Oxford, N. C., will conduct the services, and Ben Beall, of Douglasville, will lead the music. Lawrence V. Bradley, Jr., is pastor of the church.

Prophetic Crusade

The Prophetic Crusade will feature Evangelist Melvin K. Eckenroth's unusual address, "The Scripture That Smashes Stalin's Schemes," tomorrow at the Atlanta Annex Auditorium.

Three meetings are planned for the presentation of this subject. The first at 3 p. m. and the others at 6:30 and 8:15 p. m.

Dr. Burns' Subject

"We Would See Jesus" is the sermon subject of Dr. Robert W. Burns at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow at the Peachtree Christian Church.

'Universal Church'

"The Universal Church" is the theme for the Evening Bells Service at 5 p. m. tomorrow and at 8 p. m. The final dedication services for the Annie Laurie Chapel will be held in the chapel with Dr. Burns bringing the message of "The Rose Window." Special music by the choirs will be under the direction of Richard Thomasson.

Camp Meeting Songs

The Atlanta presentation of the 160th anniversary program of the Methodist Publishing House will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the Epworth Methodist Church.

The program, featuring the Circuit Rider Quartet, composed of four young ministers from the Candler School of Theology of Emory University, will present a series of hymns and camp meeting songs.

The Methodist Publishing House is sponsoring this program for the dual purpose of recapturing the evangelistic spirit and enthusiasm of the eighteenth century church and of presenting the part the House has played in the history and growth of the church.

Dr. Rimbault Speaker

Dr. Lucian Rimboult, Professor at Montpelier Seminary, Montpelier, France, will be the guest this week end of Dr. Vernon S. Broyles, Jr., Pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian Church. Dr. Rimbault will preach at the 7:30 p. m. service at the church tomorrow evening.

American Investors Unperturbed By World's Economic Troubles

By CHARLES F. SPEARE

NEW YORK — (NANA) — The economic and political troubles over the world have not changed for the better in recent days. The surprising fact is, however, that investors do not appear to be perturbed by this situation. American securities have, for the most part, continued firm and active. It seemed logical that they should react from the high price level of the month, especially the issues of those companies directly affected by the coal and iron and steel strikes, also of industries forced to curtail their operations from lack of raw materials.

Actually, the composite price average of industrial shares advanced during much of the period after steel plants closed and steel production was falling toward zero. Furthermore, there was moderate strength in stocks of the Eastern railroads whose coal traffic has for some time been shrinking and whose car loadings from regular customers in the steel trade are down sharply.

In the midst of this unfavorable business atmosphere a nation-wide group of bankers considered the time propitious for offering to the public about 1,200,000 shares of Bank of America stock at a price to yield over 5.50 percent. The day previous an issue of $25.000,000 preferred stock of the Public Service Electric and Gas Company of New Jersey, which had been hanging fire, was taken up by institutions which know a good bargain when they see it. In the tax-exempt market the ready sale of $43,365,000 State of New York housing bonds was the feature of the week with the long maturities quoted later at a premium.

Whether the public is correct or in error in assuming that stocks at current prices and yields are preferable to cash in bank or in corporation bonds is yet to be determined. The facts are that more people in the United States have surplus cash to invest than ever before and that by judicious advertising they have become stock conscious.

It is estimated that the liquid assets of individuals have increased three and a half times in the past 10 years and that the value of listed stocks has risen only 50 percent in the same period. Shares of corporations with long dividend records are available at returns of about 6 percent to over 8 percent, including such representatives in their fields as American Telephone and Telegraph, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, United States Steel and General Motors. President Truman's information that he may have to increase taxes in order to overcome the effects of a deficit will put something of a damper on the market.

In his valedictory address to the American people, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, for three years President Truman's right-hand man in the field of economics, voiced the self-evident, but little-heeded truth that "we cannot get more out of the economic system than we put in," and aimed this hit at current Treasury practice: "Monetary and fiscal tricks have no power of magic but are a slippery road to misery."

In 1776, Adam Smith, the economist, who is not much read today, said, "When national debts have once accumulated to a certain degree there is scarce, I believe, a single instance of their having been fairly and completely paid." The current statement of the U. S. Treasury shows a public debt of $256,439,768,459 as compared with one of $253,876,874,760 in July. The appropriations in the first session of the eighty-first Congress were $37,643,000,000 or about $5,000,000,000 more than in the eightieth session.

In the first three and a half months of the new fiscal year the budget deficit amounts to $2,295,000,000. It may reach $5,000,000,000 by June 30, which would make higher Federal income taxes inevitable.

The action of the compromise farm price-support bill, as Congress adjourned, brought out the statement from Sen. George D. Aiken that this would doom prospects for lower food prices "indefinitely." The farmer wins again, the consumer loses—as usually.

The American public is on another buying spree, but putting down less cash for what it buys than in several years. In June, regulation "W," under which installment purchases had been kept in check for some time, was canceled. With the "lid off" a renewal of time purchases began. Since June, installment credits have risen about $50,000,000 and are heading toward the $10,000,000,000 mark.

A new and pernicious method by which merchants stimulate sales is that advertised as "no down payment." Naturally this has caught on and is increasing business among those who had been experiencing a slow trade. Banks and finance companies report a rising number of defaults on household appliances and some failures on payments for the cheaper types of homes. Many low income individuals have taken on greater financial obligations than they can meet.

The continued slump in sales of the department stores, as well as among the mail-order houses, reflects a clash of opinion on prices as well as reduced buying power. In New York dollar sales of the former group were down 20 percent for the week of Oct. 15, and 13 percent for the month. For nine months to Sept. 30, Sears, Roebuck and Company sales are off 6.7 percent compared with 1948, and Montgomery Ward 10.5 percent. F. W. Woolworth, in the same period, shows a loss of only 1.1 percent while Kresge is up 5.3 percent. The apparel group report a loss of 8.6 percent with individual stores down 14 to 17 percent.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OUTGREW SPACE

Holy Innocents Members Toiling on New Building

When members of Holy Innocents' Protestant Episcopal Church learned the Sunday School had outgrown available space and funds for expansion were limited, they hit on a practical solution:

They would erect a building themselves!

And that's what they've been doing for the past several weeks.

Their regular day's chores done, men of the congregation have gathered at night at the church, Sixteenth and Spring Streets, N. W., and gone to work with hammers, saws and nails.

Men who had never driven nails before found they could learn—and happily reported they got "great satisfaction" from their efforts.

When the building is completed, it will provide not only three 'esperately needed Sunday School classrooms but space for meetings of the Woman's Auxiliary, men's meetings, Young People's Service League and Scouting activities.

Sam T. Cobb, Emory Theological School student, who is in charge of the church as well as organist and choir director, called the building project "an example of what can be accomplished by Christian fellowship and co-operation."

While the men have been busy erecting the building, women of the congregation have been baking cakes, making candy, dolls and other items to be sold today at a Halloween Carnival to help raise funds to complete the building.

Children of the church will do their part by presenting a concert Nov. 25 for the benefit of the Sunday School Building Fund.

Class Trip Campaign Has Nine Additions

By FRANK MAJORS

Additional Georgia schools are daily availing themselves of the opportunity to earn funds for class trips and other projects by entering The Atlanta Constitution's $100,000 Class Trip Campaign.

Nine new classes yesterday became officially associated with the campaign in advance of the Nov. 1 conclusion of the first period when payments gradually decline under the sliding scale established by the rules of the campaign.

Other school groups are reminded that less than two weeks remain in this first period and their entrance now will enable them to earn the highest return for their efforts in signing up new one-year subscribers to The Constitution.

Those entering are listed below for the first time:

Student Council, Decatur Girls High, Decatur. Mrs. Walter Herbert, Principal; Lanier Hudson, President; Louise Hill and Marion Hood, Circulation Managers.

Senior Class, Concord-Molena High, Concord. D. V. Spencer, Principal; Billy Bottoms, President; Eloise Nixon, Circulation Manager.

Senior Class, H. A. Hunt High, Fort Valley. H. E. Bryant, Principal; Paul Pinkett, Jr., President; Ruth Lightfoot, Circulation Manager.

Senior Class, Hogansville High School, Hogansville. D. F. Osborne, Principal; Mrs. E. W. Chappell, Circulation Manager.

Tenth Grade, LaGrange High School, LaGrange. Guy Dosier, Principal; Lillie Bradley, Circulation Manager.

Senior Class, Franklin High School, Franklin. Syrol McLain, President; Evelyn Caswell, Circulation Manager.

Fatal Beating Nets Thugs Two Dollars

AKRON, Ohio — (AP) — Vincent Dalchuk, 21, arrested Wednesday just less than two hours after he was married, faced a first degree murder charge yesterday.

He and Raymond Gallo, 22, are charged with beating John Zajac, 76, to death last Saturday in a holdup that police said netted just two dollars.

Dalchuk's wife, the former Elia Rae Corley, 17, was with him when he was arrested. She said she knew nothing of the slaying.

Spalding Voters Approve Bonds

Constitution State News Service

GRIFFIN—Spalding County voters approved a County School Bond issue of $325,000 by a five-to-one margin Wednesday. The vote was: For bonds, 822; against, 173.

The money from sale of the bond issue will be used to relieve congestion in the county schools by erecting new buildings and enlarging present buildings.

Winder Baptist Church Holds Opening of Pastorium Sunday

WINDER—The First Baptist Church here will hold the formal opening of the handsome new pastorium, recently completed, tomorrow evening from 6 to 9 o'clock.

The social committee of the Woman's Missionary Union, composed of Mesdames E. H. Collins, J. Roy Jackson, E. L. Harris, W. T. Randolph, W. M. Holsenbec and S. T. Maughon, will be in charge of arrangements.

Built on Cape Cod architectural lines, the structure is of red brick and has 10 rooms with three baths, a connecting breezeway and a double garage. It is equipped throughout with every convenience of modern homes, including an oil furnace, an air conditioning system and a beautifully equipped kitchen.

Organizations of the church and numerous individuals have made contributions to the home. The stove for the kitchen and the rugs for the living room, dining room and front halls were contributed by Sunday School classes. The Fidelis class of the Young People's Department gave a telephone table. The Nursery Department gave two attractive wall brackets for holding demitasse cups. The WMS placed two lovely Pembroke end tables in the living room. The Ruby Flanigan Circle placed a Duncan Phyfe console table in the hall, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Flanigan gave a mirror to be placed over this table.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peskin gave a beautiful lounge chair upholstered in red leather for the study. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rutledge and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Pool, Sr., gave lamps for the living room. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pratt gave a mirror for the living room. Mrs. W. T. Randolph gave the George Washington spreads for the guest bedroom. Dr. W. T. Randolph donated the boxwood.

Floridan to Dance For English Court

LONDON — (AP) — A 26-year-old Florida girl who has danced professionally since she was five will perform for the King Nov. 7.

She is Pensacola-born Miss Marilyn Hightower, a red-haired 102-pound ballet dancer now appearing with a London company of the Folies Bergere.

Miss Hightower was picked for the Royal Variety Performance, an annual show for the King and Queen. She appeared also in the 1947 command show, "but I didn't do much then." This time she has a solo part.

She is a daughter of a retired sea-captain, Capt. C. P. Hightower, and Mrs. Hightower, who live at Destin, Fla., a tiny beach town 75 miles from Pensacola. Unmarried, she has been dancing in England since 1946.

Your Mind's Mirror

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Can you save a grown child from himself?

Answer: Not by trying to block his attempts at self-expression—his choice of an occupation or a mate, for instance. If he grew up feeling that you wanted him to be himself, not an echo of your wishes and ideas, he will tend as an adult to live the kind of life which you have made him see was most worth living. But if he feels you have tried to smother him, he may be driven to assert his independence by doing exactly what he knows you will dislike most. And in that case putting further pressure on him will only increase his determination to defy you.

Can a game mean too much to you?

Answer: Yes, if it absorbs you to the point where you neglect your family—or business. And I am not speaking of your "duty" but your long-range interests. We properly enjoy games and sports because they offer us a chance to get a sense of success and importance without risking any serious loss if we fail. But if we become discouraged over our ability in fields that really matter, we may let our favorite sport become a substitute for practical activities and (unless we turn professional) waste our lives on it.

Can emotional shock cause diabetes?

Answer: It can aggravate the symptoms. Dr. Flanders Dunbar tells of a man whose blood sugar content rose alarmingly when he learned that he was slated for retirement. But as a rule the disease develops so gradually that it's difficult to say when it began or that any one thing caused it. Emotional conflicts in childhood probably may predispose a person to it, but conversely if neglected, it may change the sufferer's personality and even produce psychosis. It is coming to be recognized as an example of the interplay of physical and mental forces.

Opening lead: King of clubs.

AN APPARENTLY DANGEROUS PLAY PROVES TO BE A SAFETY MEASURE

A neat performance in both bidding and play was presented to view when this hand came up in the recent sectional tournament at Atlantic City. Few teams reached the slam contract of six hearts and only one declarer succeeded in bringing home 12 tricks. The play has a special appeal to me because of its absolute simplicity.

South elected to open with a bid of one heart tho several of the players who held it chose to make a demand bid. It is a very close choice. Were the suits both majors 1 would insist upon an opening bid of two; even the addition of the jack of diamonds would make it an obligatory opening two-heart bid. North responded dutifully with one trump and South made a game forcing jump shift of three diamonds. North chose to return to the first suit. Facing a two suiter he was reluctant to regard his club holding as a stopper and abandoned the no trump idea.

South realized that even with a mild holding in the North hand a slam might be available and temporized by bidding four clubs (hearts had presumably been agreed upon and this was intended as an ace showing bid). North's bid of four diamonds was clear cut and then South overbid the game with a call of five hearts. North properly construed this as an inquiry into the nature of his spade holding and realized that South could not embark upon a slam for fear that two tricks would be lost in that suit. Since he could promise to lose no more than one spade trick North accepted the invitation.

The king of clubs was opened. South won and took only two rounds of trumps, leaving one at large. He then played the ace, king, and queen of diamonds and ruffed a small one with the nine of hearts in dummy establishing the suit and conceding only one trick to the ace of spades.

The election not to pull all the trumps is sound. If diamonds do not break, it will do not good for declarer to draw the trumps since he will have to lose one trick in diamonds. If diamonds do break it will be safe to play two rounds of the suit. If both opponents follow the last trump is drawn. If one of them shows out, declarer has the hope that the player who has no more diamonds (West in this case) also has no more trumps. It's a remote chance, but it costs nothing to try.

Miss Lancaster To Represent State at Christmas Carnival

MARY LANCASTER

Miss Mary Lancaster, junior at Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, has been appointed by Gov. Talmadge to represent her school and the State of Georgia at the annual Christmas Carnival celebration to be held in Birmingham, Ala., on Nov. 23, 24, 25 and 27. The theme of the pageant is "Christmas of Peace."

The carnival is sponsored by the civic and business interests of Birmingham. Miss Lancaster will be an official guest of the City of Birmingham and will participate in all the carnival events, which will include numerous luncheons, dinner parties and a gigantic parade. The highlight of the carnival will be her presentation at the royal court of King Cheer and Queen Joy.

Bowden Flower Show

BOWDON—Mrs. E. E. Cox won sweepstakes in the Fall Flower Show sponsored by the Bowdon Garden Club at the Woman's Clubhouse this week. Mrs. Cox also won the prize for the most outstanding arrangement. Door prize was given Mrs. Irene Cristi.

A tour was made to see table arrangements at the homes of Mrs. Kate Alexander, Mrs. Grady Moon, Mrs. J. W. Watts, Mrs. L. L. Burch and Mrs. A. N. Taylor.

SALLY FORTH Says:

Anne O'Sullivan To Wear Chinese Lace Bridal Veil

When Anne O'Sullivan becomes the bride of Ens. John Mallard, Jr., on Nov. 29, she will wear a wedding veil that took a year and a half in the making.

The veil was made in a nunnery in North China for John's mother, Mrs. J. B. Mallard, during her residence in the Orient when her husband, Adm. Mallard, was stationed there with the Navy. It was worn by John's sister, the former Ella Mallard, when she became the bride of Tracy S. Park, Jr., of Linden, Tenn.

The exquisite veil, which is full length, is hand-embroidered on net and looks very much like Brussels lace.

Anne's engagement ring is a Naval Academy miniature, for her fiance graduated there last June. John formerly went to Tech, it seems, and he and Anne were good friends then.

But after his graduation in 1945, he and Anne did not see each other again until she went to Annapolis to his class hop last March. She was back for his graduation in June, and in August they became engaged.

They have set their marriage for the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodward, who are close friends of Anne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. O'Sullivan. Mr. Woodward will be an usher at the ceremony.

Fairy Godmother for Churches Homes

Mrs. J. Wen Lundeen has come to be known as a sort of fairy godmother at the Churches Homes for Girls, where she gives unstintedly of her time and talents in the name of her church, the First Church of Christian Science.

Whenever there is a wedding in one of the homes (and with 564 girls residing in 11 homes, they are frequent), the house mother gets in touch with Mrs. Lundeen.

Mrs. Lundeen in turn gets in touch with her close friends, Mrs. W. C. Mosely and Mrs. J. R. Patillo, and pretty soon the trio arrives with a truck load of flowers, palms, flower containers, candelabra, tapers, ribbons, etc.

In no time at all, an altar has been improvised, the living room, dining room and hall are a bower of flowers, and everything is in readiness for the first strains of the wedding march.

This has been going on for a year and a half, it seems, and Mrs. Lundeen has never failed to answer an appeal. Recently she discovered that one of the homes was sadly in need of some new draperies. Within a few days she arrived with the needed drapes and hung them herself.

"The beauty of it is," said one house mother, "that she does it all so tirelessly and modestly."

Mrs. John W. Maddox, of Rome, Mrs. Robert Tharpe and Mrs. J. L. Brooks, Sr., have returned after a week's visit to New York.

Lee Eldridge Marks Birthday

The Thomas Eldridges gave THE surprise party of the season last evening when they entertained for their attractive daughter, Lee, in celebration of her sixteenth birthday anniversary. The party took the form of a dance at the Eldridge home on Ponce de Leon Avenue. Twenty-five couples were invited, with Graham Jackson playing for the occasion.

Lee's name is really Leila Elizabeth Eldridge, but to avoid the confusion of two Leilas in the household (she is her mother's namesake), the family took her three initials which spell Lee and thus the derivation.

Anyway, Lee was so completely surprised last evening when the guests began arriving that she hasn't gotten over it yet. Mrs. Eldridge conspired with one of Lee's boy friends. He called and invited the pretty subdeb to go dancing with him last evening, saying that if it is was agreeable, they'd go formal. So when the guests arrived, Lee was gowned in a most becoming burnt orange taffeta creation.

The party was wonderful from beginning to end and memorable as a sixteenth birthday party should be.

Assisting the hosts were Marion Ledford, of Gainesville, and Dotty Morrison, both counselors at Sky Lake Camp which Lee attended this past Summer; Evelyn Ballard, Doris Noland, of Rutledge, and Nancy Young, of Newnan, who will spend the weekend with Lee.

Abundant Apple Crops On Market in Wide Variety

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD
Constitution Home Economics Editor

If Johnny Appleseed could get a glimpse of this year's apple crop, he'd be more than pleased. Lots of apples in America was what he wanted when he distributed appleseed in his pioneer travels, and this year there'll be lots of apples.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates this year's commercial apple crop at 129,423,000 bushels, or nearly a bushel for each person in the United States. That means there'll be apples in an almost endless variety on most markets—apples for desserts or for eating out of hand (D), for cooking (C), for baking (B), and for general purposes (G).

Using those cue letters, you can pick your own from the varieties found on most markets: Jonathans (DG), Golden Grimes (DG), Wealthy (CG), Delicious (D), McIntosh (DBG), Winesap (DG), Stayman (DBG), Rome Beauty (BC), Baldwin (DG), Rhode Island Greening (CG), Northern Spy (DG), Black Twig (BC), Ben Davis (C), Yellow Newton (DG), Golden Delicious (DG), York Imperial (CG), and Cortland (DBG).

Homemakers will find it economical to buy apples in quantity, but the matter of proper storage space must be kept in mind. Apples keep their crisp quality longer in a cool, moist place. Too-warm temperature will make them mealy and soft. Small quantities may be kept in the refrigerator. Store only sound apples.

Any cook book will offer a wide variety of apple recipes, but here are three we like very much. Apple griddle cakes have the crunch of apple and are full of apple flavor. Serve them with the usual butter and sirup topping, along with sausage patties or rashers of bacon.

APPLE GRIDDLE CAKES
2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 cup finely chopped apples

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg lightly and add milk and shortening. Stir into flour mixture, beating smooth. Add apples and mix well. Bake on hot griddle, turning once. Makes 12 three-inch griddle cakes.

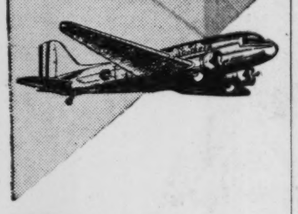

Cream Apple is a new version of apple pie. Tart apple slices, lightly spiced with nutmeg, are barred with flaky pastry, then topped with a creamy sweet syrup and baked to just-right tenderness. Evaporated milk, just as it pours from the can, is boiled with the sugar to make the creamy-rich, caramel-y syrup which blends beautifully with the apples in the baking.

CREAM APPLE PIE
1 quart sliced apples
Nutmeg
1 cup evaporated milk
1½ cups sugar
Pastry

Turn apples into pie pan lined with pastry. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Place strips of pastry across pie to form crossbars. Blend milk and sugar and boil to a thick syrup, about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour syrup over pie. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 10 minutes, then in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until apples are tender, about 50 minutes longer.

SCALLOPED APPLES AND CABBAGE
1 quart tart sliced apples
2 quarts shredded cabbage
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup bread crumbs

Place alternate layers of the apples and cabbage in a greased baking dish, seasoning each with salt and fat and sprinkling the sugar on the apples. Spread the bread crumbs over the last layer. Cover, and bake at 350 degrees F. for 45 minutes, or until the cabbage and apples are tender. Toward the last, remove the cover so the crumbs can brown. Serve in the baking dish.

Don't Throw a 'Tantrum' And Blame Child for One

By ELIZABETH BLANCHARD

Does your child have tantrums? One dictionary defines a tantrum as a petulant fit of passion. This could mean anything from throwing porridge on the floor to turning everything in the house upside down. Whatever it is, it should not be.

Of course, prevention is better than cure, and let us look at it from this point of view. Let us see how not to let those tendencies to tantrums develop and take hold of a child who is some day to be an adult. It is so often the parents' fault that we must look to this.

If you have a tendency to fly off the handle yourself, you are going to pass it on to him. He's your child. He lives in your environment and so he's going to (probably) imitate you. So, if you wish to use prevention instead of a cure, watch your own actions. If you give a child something to imitate, he will do so.

Another thing you can do to encourage a fit of tantrums is to egg a child on and tell him that he has a nasty temper. What do you expect him to do in this case? He's too young to try to put you in your place and tell you that you are all wrong. He'll do just what you expect.

Perhaps you do not show him a real example of tantrums yourself. However, you can bring on and encourage this tendency in a child by keeping him overexcited, and not seeing to it that he gets enough rest. Rest is necessary for a calm nervous system, and a calm nervous system is in turn necessary to keep away the tantrums.

Tantrums are often developed by a child in order to achieve his ends. The best way to discourage this is to ignore the tantrum when it occurs. But be calm about it. Don't show irritation yourself. Make sure with a baby that there is nothing definitely wrong, then be firm.

Pilot Club Plans Supper, Bazaar

FOR KAPPA ALPHA

Miss Candler Is Sponsor

Miss Helen Candler, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Candler, has been selected as the sponsor for the Kappa Alpha fraternity at Emory University, it was announced by the fraternity President, Bobby Crawford.

Miss Candler, who resides with her grandmother, Mrs. George Brandon, on Collier Road, will be formally presented by the chapter on Nov. 6 at a buffet supper to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Candler at their home on Briarcliff Road.

Your Stars Today

WHAT TO EXPECT TODAY
Sun in Libra

General Tendencies — Much rumor is abroad at this time, possibly making you suspicious of close friends, family or co-workers. Better examine all such reports carefully before acting upon them as they seem either ill-founded or purely temporary opinions. But interests for today are all experiments, study of rather deep subjects, mechanical work or things which call for technical skill. This includes housework, of course, because that is a real profession when done rightly. Romances? Not too lively this evening, although possible if you look toward your old-time friends.

If It's Your Birthday — Make the most of the Winter months and then again in the first part of the Fall of 1950. You have a short but profitable period for business and, if looking for a worthwhile mate, can also add to your income by selecting a person with money. This is not usually your idea, but I mention it as it seems strong in your horoscope. Such a partner would be more satisfactory in business than in marital relations, however, as he or she will tend to become very jealous of you. Is this justified? I won't say, but you Libra people are always noted for successive love affairs.

5 Maconites Cited in Liquor Case

Five Macon retail liquor dealers were cited yesterday by Special Investigator Claude Shaw to appear before State Revenue Commissioner Charles D. Redwine next week along with Phillip Simmons, Macon wholesaler, to answer charges of liquor-law violations.

Shaw said he is charging a conspiracy between the five retailers and Simmons, who previously had been summoned to a hearing. The Simmons hearing had been set for Monday, but Shaw said he has summoned Simmons and the retailers to appear at 9 a. m. next Friday.

The Macon wholesaler was ordered to show cause why his license should not be revoked for alleged sales in dry counties and alleged falsifying of State records.

Shaw said he could not give details of the charges against the retailers but that he had found evidence to link them with Simmons in a conspiracy. He named the retailers as Raymond Simmons, J. E. Fornby, T. E. Davison, Z. E. Davison and W. H. Davison.

Meanwhile, former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson said yesterday that in the John Horace Bowen hearing last week Shaw had merely reiterated the "same wild charges made by Candidate Herman Talmadge when seeking the governorship in 1948." The hearing, which resulted in Bowen's license being revoked, produced "nothing new," Thompson added.

Shaw had no comment to make on Thompson's charges that Shaw was merely seeking newspaper headlines and a judgeship.

Thompson said if he violated the law by granting Bowen a liquor license in 1944 that Commissioner Redwine likewise violated the law by renewing Bowen's license this year after studying the application for four months.

Redwine had no comment on this.

Three Injured In Building Work

Three persons were injured yesterday in construction work in Atlanta.

A portable building in the process of being moved from 820 Forrest Rd., N. E., collapsed upon two Negroes, Ptl. W. T. Laseter and G. L. McGraw said. Listed as Willie Price, 49, of 601 Alpine St., and Charlie McLaughlin, 60, of 602 Alpine, they were treated at Grady Hospital for cuts and bruises.

William Mullen Jackson, 34, Negro, of the Bellwood Prison Camp, was treated at Grady Hospital for a possible fractured leg after a building being torn down at 1101 Jefferson St., N. W., collapsed. Ptl. C. H. Hammock and C. W. Rogers said Jackson was seated on part of the foundation breaking rocks when the section gave way.

Grains Absorb Profit-Taking

CHICAGO—(AP)—Grains had to absorb a good deal of profit-taking Friday after their advance earlier this week. They took the selling with only minor losses in most cases.

Wheat and corn slipped under the previous close at times. Soybeans backed down a couple of cents. Widest losses were partly recovered before the final gong.

Oats, particularly the deferred contracts, continued upward. Both May and July made new seasonal peaks. Buying was based on the argument that these contracts are selling at too big a discount under both the December contract and the cash price.

Wheat closed ⅛-¾ lower, December $2.13¾; corn was ¼-⅞ lower, December $1.16¾-⅞; oats were unchanged to ⅞ higher, December 71; rye was unchanged to ½ lower, December $1.47; soybeans were ¾-2¾ lower, November $2.28¾-½, and lard was 20 cents lower to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $11.67-$11.70.

COFFEE MARKET

NEW YORK—(AP)—Santos coffee futures for the second consecutive day advanced the daily permissible trading limit of 150 points Friday. Brazilian buying and short covering accounted for the demand. Trading slowed down, principally because offerings were scarce at the trading limits. The spot coffee market was firm. Dealers marked up the Santos No. 4 coffee to 37 cents a pound nominal on a spot basis. Coffee spot Santos No. 4 closed at 37n. Santos Bourbons 3s at 37.65-38-10a and 5s 36.40-60a. Santos "S" futures closed 150 higher, sales 98 contracts.

Stock Gains, Losses Are Scrambled

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market stolidly followed a narrow price route Friday.

Airline and meat packing issues enjoyed a flurry of favor at higher quotations, but the market generally barely stirred. Gains and losses were thoroughly scrambled with changes mainly in small fractions.

Substantial morning dealings in low-priced Benquet Consolidated Mining helped to swell volume. Turnover hit a rate of around 1,290,000 shares for the full session, or about on a par with business earlier this week.

The belief persisted in the financial district that the White House would take a hand soon in settling the steel and coal strikes despite official indications that no steps have been taken—or even planned—in that direction.

International Mining advanced about one-half point to a new high for the year following word that directors had voted a 25-cent dividend, first since a dime was paid in 1941.

Airline issues in demand—apparently because of favorable earnings reports, either already reported or expected—included Pan American, American Airlines, United, Eastern, and Transcontinental & Western.

Corporate bonds showed only minor variations. U. S. Government issues showed an incination to get ahead in over-the-counter trade.

Higher in the curb were Long Island Lighting, Kawneer Company, Pantepec Oil, Niagara Hudson Power, United Light, Venezuelan Petroleum, Alaska Airlines, H. C. Bohack, Colonial Airlines, and Fox Brewing. Lower were Kaiser-Frazer, Simplicity Pattern, and Arkansas Natural Gas Common and "A."

Remarks by Emil Schram, President of the New York Stock Exchange, on the subject of venture capital were widely applauded in the financial district.

Schram declared that the way to loosen up the supply of venture capital is by changes in the federal tax structure rather than expansion of government lending to business. Schram was critical of the activities of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in the field of business lending.

The Exchange official has long been an outspoken opponent of federal double taxation of dividends—once at the corporate level and again at the individual level.

COAL PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The National Coal Association estimated Friday bituminous production in the week ended Oct. 15 was 2,385 tons. Production in the corresponding week of 1948 was 12,463,000. In the previous week this year it was 2,210,000.

The lower 1949 figures are attributable to the United Mine Workers' strike in the soft coal fields east of the Mississippi. Last week's production was made up of coal from non-union mines and from union pits west of the Mississippi.

Bond Prices Mixed; Changes Small

NEW YORK—(AP)—The bond market moved at a slow pace Friday with prices mixed and changes mostly in small fractions.

Most sales were in lots of a few bonds. There was some demand, however, for a few selected issues.

Additional new financing reached the stage of public sale Friday, with offering of $40,000,000 of Indianapolis Power & Light Company 30-year first mortgage 2⅞ percent bonds, at 102.125 and accrued interest. A total of 239,601 common shares of Illinois Power Company stock was being offered to present holders at $31.50 a share.

DRYGOODS REPORT

NEW YORK—(AP)—The cotton textile market was firm Friday. Print cloths and broadcloths sold in volume for first-quarter delivery. Prices on some broadcloth constructions were up ¼ to ½ cent a yard from previous prices. The popular 80 square print cloths sold at 21½ cents a yard, reflecting a scarcity of goods for quick delivery. The wool goods market was steady. Increasing interest centered on Fall lines and the prices that mills would establish for those goods. Some declines in prices were anticipated. Rayon goods were firm.

SUGAR FUTURES

NEW YORK — (AP) — Domestic sugar futures were steady Friday in small mixed trading. World sugar futures were quiet. The raw sugar market was firm. Demand for refined sugar was only fair. Domestic sugar futures No. 6 closed unchanged to 3 lower, sales 63 contracts.

N. Y. Cotton Irregular In Dull Trading

NEW YORK — (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular in dull trading Friday. Mill buying was offset by hedging and liquidation. Private Atlanta advices said mill buying in spot cotton continued good during the past week.

The CCC reported cotton loans for the week ended Oct. 13 at 113,057 bales against 52,302 bales for the previous week.

Loans so far this season totaled 234,500 bales against 993,098 bales placed in the loan to the same approximate date a year ago.

Futures closed 10 to 30 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

'Little Brown Jug' Grid Stake Today

By RITA VAN PELT

Football's famed "Little Brown Jug" will be the booty for which the Minnesota and Michigan teams struggle when they meet in Michigan's huge stadium in Ann Arbor this afternoon—a game which will be described in each exciting detail via WCON-ABC beginning at 1:45.

While ownership of this item of crockery may be uppermost in the minds the teams' loyal followers, the game is of wide national importance since it is expected to go a long way in determining the national ranking of the teams involved and may even pave the way to the Rose Bowl for Minnesota's Golden Gophers, should they defeat their rivals. Sounds like good listening for football fans.

Symphony Special

Two special programs of outstanding interest to Georgia's music lovers will take the airways via WCON today in honor of the opening of the Atlanta Symphony tonight. First at 9:30 a. m. will be heard Backstage with the Atlanta Symphony, an actual broadcast of the symphony orchestra during rehearsal and featuring an interview with tonight's concert soloist, Dorothy Kirsten. The second "special" will come to listeners at 8 p. m. and will consist of a series of interviews direct from the lobby of the Municipal Auditorium just prior to curtain time. Les Henrikson will conduct both programs.

Famous Guests

Jeffry Lynn, handsome film and stage star who recently scored a hit in Atlanta's Penthouse Theater, will try his luck with the panel experts when he sits in as honored guest during Twenty Questions, a WGST-MBS program on the air at 8 tonight. And, on the same network at 7:30, Arlene Francis will make a guest appearance on Quick As a Flash, a quiz show.

Town Meeting

Putting the final flourish to its global tour of world capitals made this Summer on a radio good-will mission, America's Town Meeting will broadcast from Washington, D. C., at 9:30 tonight. The program, which will be heard over the facilities of WCON-ABC, will air the topic, "How Can America Contribute to a Free World?—A Report to the People."

Editor's Report

The third in a series of High School Editors Reports will feature Guest Editor Mel Wise, editor of The Southerner of Henry Grady High School this morning at 8:45 over WCON. These reports feature the comments and opinions of editors in High Schools of Greater Atlanta and are proving intensely interesting.

Mary Lee Taylor

The world premiere of baby's first word and its world-shaking effect on a couple of young parents forms the plot of today's Story of the Week on the WSB-NBC Mary Lee Taylor show—10:30 a. m.

Spellman on WCON

The voice of Cardinal Spellman will be heard on Don Elliot's 6:30 WCON News this evening. Don will record an interview with the Cardinal at the airport as he stops over briefly on his way to conduct a mass at Ft. Benning tomorrow.

Canasta To Win

By ALBERT H. MOREHEAD
Noted Authority on Games

Although, with the minimum meld at 50, aces make the ideal meld, and usually you should meld aces whenever you are able to do so, there are exceptions. For example, after drawing a four from the stock, you hold the following hand:

Now you have three choices. You can meld your deuce with the pair of aces, and also your three sevens; you can meld just the deuce and aces, holding up the sevens; or you can play along a few rounds without making any meld.

The poorest play would be to meld six cards. That would leave you with only five cards in your hand and would put your right-hand opponent in a position where he might even start discarding 10-point cards for which you have no use. It would be better simply to meld the aces and hold up the sevens.

But probably your best play is not to make any meld at all, on this turn, meanwhile "baiting" the pack by discarding one of your sevens. This leaves you in a position to make the initial meld whenever you choose; and if your right-hand apponent falls for your "advertisement" and discards a seven, you can take the pack. At the same time, since you have not disclosed the fact you are able to make a minimum meld, your opponent will be less wary about discarding.

However, it does not pay to hold up aces if a couple of rounds fail to improve your hand, And, whenever there is any danger of the opponents' going out quickly, or if you can tell from your partner's discards that he is hard pressed, of course you must make the minimum meld as soon as you possibly can.

Question: The up-card is an eight and there is another eight immediately below it among the discards. The next player, whose side has not yet melded, shows two eights and three fives from his hand. He claims that with the aid of the fourth (buried) eight, he can make a minimum meld. Is this correct?

Answer: No. Only the up-card itself may be counted toward making the minimum meld.

Commissioners at Odds On County Economies

R. L. (Shorty) Doyal, Chairman of the Fulton County Commission and three other Commissioners, yesterday said that a statement issued Thursday by Commissioner Jack Towns might leave the impression that the county is not on a sound financial basis. The county is on a sound financial basis, they said.

Towns replied by reiterating his opinion that the county should be put on a "sounder" financial basis by eliminating "some of the useless department heads and unnecessary employees."

In a letter to the editor, Chairman Doyal wrote:

"A news story appeared on the front page of The Atlanta Constitution Oct. 21, in the form of a statement by Commissioner Jack Towns which might leave the impression that the Fulton County Government has a financial deficit at the present time and is not on a sound financial basis. The other members of the Board regret this statement because it does tend to mislead the public. As Chairman of the Board, I have been instructed to state that Fulton County has no financial deficit, is operated under a budget law, pays the County Manager and the County Auditor approximately $40,000 a year to look after its financial condition and see that the County Government lives within its income at all times.

"It is true that the income of the County will be decreased somewhat next year by the change of the law regarding the tax on accounts receivable. However, the Commissioners have taken cognizance of that fact many months ago and have instructed the Manager and the Auditor to prepare the 1950 budget so that the County Government will not exceed its income, as has been true of Fulton County for many years. Commissioner Towns and others should realize that this community is growing and progressive, that thousands of new homes are being constructed annually, that millions of dollars of industrial expansions are coming into this county annually and in the face of these facts, the governmental services of Fulton County cannot be curtailed but must increase as the population, business and industry increases.

"The Commission would like to remind Mr. Towns and the general public that a large number of our employees receive bare living wages according to the cost of living in 1949. It will be very difficult to lower the salaries and cut personnel appreciably as the County continues to grow in people, business and industry. The Commissioners feel that the County Government is being operated as economically as is possible in all instances. If the new Commissioner would acquaint himself with the ramifications of the County Government and understand them through a thorough investigation on his part, the other members of the Board are sure he would have not issued his statement.

The Commissioners want to reassure the citizens of this great County that the County Government will be operated within its income and that services will not be curtailed but will be increased to meet the needs of our community if it continues to grow as it has in the past."

Towns replied:

"I wish to remind the Chairman and the other three Commissioners of statements I have heard them make before the Grand Jury to the effect that we are increasing our personnel daily and decreasing our services to the people. If that is sound government and sound management, I am fearful for the future of the County.

"In my statement I repeatedly said that I, as one Commissioner, was of the opinion that the time had come when we should put our County Government on a sounder financial basis. That would be to eliminate some of the useless department heads and unnecessary employees and remind some of the elected departmnt heads that they too must get their departments on a sounder financial basis."

More Service Means Higher Taxes-Jackson

Although taxes levied for operation of the Atlanta City Government for 1949 will be slightly less than $27 per capita, a comparatively low figure, Mayor Pro Tem James E. Jackson yesterday warned that services cannot be increased without upping revenues.

Jackson's statement was based on figures supplied by city tax assessors and were based on 1948 levies, collections and population, but no change has been made in the City's tax structure since the compilation was made.

Definite figures for 1949 are not yet available because books have not yet been finally closed for the year.

Assessors based their 1948 compilations on a population of 340,000 persons. They show that 94,161 persons filing returns to the City paid $9,120,978.32 in direct taxation, a figure averaging $26.83 per capita.

A recent survey by the U. S. News and World Report showed that Americans paid a per capita tax of $363 for 1949, comparing with a peak war-time load of $380 per capita. Of the 1949 figure, the Federal Government collected $270 per capita, and State, municipal and other local governments an average of $93 per person, according to the survey.

The survey showed that the average per capita tax levied on all citizens rose from $109 in 1940 to $380 in 1945 and then dropped to $342 in 1947, shot to $373 in 1948 and is back to $363 for 1949.

The $363 figure is larger than for several years of World War II.

Jackson said Atlanta's per capita operational cost is lower than other cities of America in its population class and that Atlantans generally get better services than are supplied by some other governments which collect more.

"Our citizens get their money's worth, but we have reached a point where we cannot increase services substantially without increasing our revenues," Jackson said. "If our people continue to demand more services, they must provide the money. That means increased taxes in some form or another and curtailment of some of the services we now provide."

Clayton at Polls Today To Elect Commissioner

Clayton County voters will go to the polls today to select a new County Commissioner to fill the vacancy created by the Georgia Supreme Court's recent decision that John C. Hulgan, victor in last November's election, was then ineligible to hold the post.

Hulgan, now eligible, is running against Howard H. Thornton—defeated candidate who contested Hulgan's right to the office—and two other candidates, B. C. Haney and W. W. Mundy.

Clayton voters four times during the latter part of 1948 were called upon to elect a Commissioner, with Hulgan and Thornton prominently figuring in all four elections.

Hulgan, Thornton and two other candidates had sought the office in the 1948 primary. No candidate received a majority, and a runover was ordered between top candidates Hulgan and Thornton. Hulgan won the runover, but Thornton contested on grounds the former was ineligible because Hulgan had been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude (larceny and transportation of an automobile in 1932).

The County Committee ordered another runover, whereupon Hulgan refused to enter and Thornton was declared winner. Hulgan successfully appealed to the State Democratic Executive Committee for certification of his name on the official November election ballot, but the Clayton County Committee disagreed. As a result, both names went on the election ballot. Hulgan won and took office in January.

Thornton then filed quo warranto proceedings, holding a pardon granted Hulgan by President Truman—after his election but prior to court hearing on his eligibility—did not make him eligible. Both the lower and Supreme Courts declared the office vacant.

Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. today.

McCrory Opens New Store Today At Columbus

Loren C. Shockley, Sales Director for McCrory Stores Corporation, the home office of which is in New York City, was in Atlanta yesterday for a brief visit with Leon Scott, local manager of McCrory Stores, while en route to Columbus, to attend the grand reopening today of the newly remodeled, enlarged and ultramodern McCrory Store there.

Shockley stated that the Columbus store is now one of the finest in the entire chain, and is in keeping with their policy of improving and expanding their stores to take care of increased business.

Other executives from the New York office and McCrory's Southeastern stores also will be in attendance for the opening.

Shockley was greatly impressed and optimistic about the future of Atlanta and the Southeast, and was well pleased with the operation and progress of the McCrory stores in this territory.

Registration Plan

VIDALIA — Registration in Toombs County, in accordance with the new law of Georgia, has reached a total of 1,394, 20 of whom are Negro registrants. At the office of the clerk of the Poard of Registrars it was learned that listings are slow and that about 6,000 more are eligible for qualification.

Griffin Tax Decision Is Upheld

The Georgia Court of Appeals ruled yesterday that a municipality cannot levy a license tax on local Federal Savings and Loan Associations.

The court, by a four-two vote, upheld a decision rendered in Spalding Superior Court against the City of Griffin.

The city had passed an ordinance levying a $150 license tax against savings and loan associations. The First Federal Savings and Loan Association in Griffin refused to pay the tax, contending it was prohibited by the Georgia code.

Superior Judge Chester A. Byars ruled that Georgia law bars cities from taxing a firm's franchise and that a license tax actually is a levy on a franchise.

The city appealed and E. S. Sell, city attorney for Macon, filed a brief supporting the Griffin ordinance.

Sell said he intervened because Macon now assesses an annual license or occupational tax on a Federal Savings and Loan Association which has its home office in Macon.

Sell contended that since such associations enjoy police and fire protection and other city-sponsored services they should be taxed the same as other businesses.

Four appeal judges, however, agreed with Judge Byars, declaring that in this case the word "franchise" meant "license or occupation."

450 Insurors Hear Executives Point Up Market

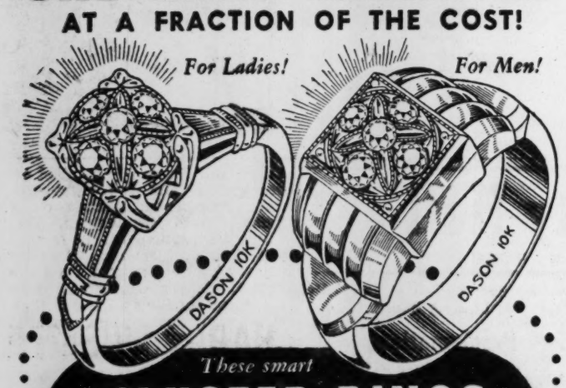

Some 450 insurance men from 11 Southeastern States at the Atlanta sales conference yesterday heard three executives describe bright new insurance markets on the horizon.

W. J. Link, Regional Manager of the Prudential Insurance Company, cited the growing U. S. population and higher incomes as new market potentials. James R. Adams, of the American National Insurance Company, said the salesmen would find new markets by selling to each other.

The dinner speaker, W. Vester Walker, Vice President of Life and Casualty Insurance Company of Tennessee, likened his business to a log-rolling party of pioneer days. "Log-rolling is defined as a combining to assist another in consideration of assistance in return . . . About 80,000,000 people in the nation are doing it with life insurance."

Devaluation Swells Flow Of European Goods to U. S.

Devaluation of European currencies is increasing the flow of European goods to the United States, four buyers for Rich's said yesterday as they displayed samples for store department heads here.

Goods being ordered now will likely show price reductions in America of 15 to 25 percent, said W. L. Happy, of the New York office of Associated Merchandising Corp., which forms an extension of Rich's buying force extending into fourteen European countries.

From Britain, American buying is largest in men's and women's knit wear and infant's clothing, said K. D. Lewis, of the AMC London office.

Kurt Gladborn, of Munich, said West Germany's china and dinnerware is in growing demand. Production in that area is now 88 percent of the prewar level. Metal work is coming back with many German toys, tools and other goods coming on the market, he said.

From Italy there were on display silk scarves with fine dye work that couldn't be matched in America, said Happy, because this country is geared above the patient hand work that goes into them.

V. C. Minett, of the AMC London office, said the AMC is expecting to place $1,000,000 in orders for goods as a result of the tour of the four-buyer group to the U. S. They are buyers for Rich's and several other stores which brought their efforts together to assist European countries in finding American markets and at the same time to bring to their American customers the best in European handicraft.

The Fulton Board of Education has taken under advisement a request of the Atlanta building trades unions that all County school construction contracts include a clause requiring workmen be paid the prevailing wages of the area. William Cetti presented the request.

Indicted for Burglary

Harry K. South, of 582 Crew St., was indicted yesterday for the burglary of the Atlanta Linen Supply Company at 325 Pryor St. Oct. 13. He is alleged to have taken a pistol and $987.

Acquittal Directed

Judge E. E. Andrews yesterday directed a verdict of not guilty for W. F. Willoughby, on trial for the alleged larceny after trust of a check for $200 from the Lipscomb-Ellis Company. Atty. Angus MacDonald, representing the defendant, brought out that Lipscomb-Ellis had lost nothing because it stopped payment on the check and that the check had been made payable both to Willoughby and the Carolina Lumber and Supply Company.

Women Pedestrians Collide in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (AP) — Two women peedstrians collided on a downtown sidewalk. One said to the other, "Beg your pardon"—then helped pull her out of a pile of shattered plate glass window and mannekins.

The strange chapter to Memphis' ancient history sent Mrs. May Jones, 54, to bed with stitches on her right arm and her head. The other woman, Mrs. L. W. McGehee, says she's "terribly distressed over it."

Nostalgic Bits Come Back in Fashion

A fashion never repeats itself in its entirety. But traces of it, nuances of it appear now and then to give a modern design a flavor of another day. This is the case of the current 20's influence.

There is no need for alarm and protestations about that ugly period. The five fashions shown prove what deft handling can do. This handling extends to hats too. The cloche of 30 years ago was lacking in architecture. Pulled down to eye level, it necessitated a whole new stance just to be able to see what was ahead. Today, the cloche allows the brow to be seen, is simply a head defining hat that balances the rest of a costume, is right with short hair.

In Paris, there were many evidences of jewelry from those years. Long strands of wooden beads for instance, that sway when walking. Here too, the heavy emphasis on the short evening dress although the impetus for this started at home in America a season ago.

The four names represented today are immediately recognized as pacesetters of fashion trends. They are Traina-Norell, Jane Derby, Omar Kiam of Ben Reig and Dior. Traina-Norell has two models sketched: A and C. In A, we see the hip-length over-blouse in jersey with a checked wool suit. Note the straight jacket. C, a satin tunic over a wool skirt has a shawl collar—a favorite face frame for the 20's cloche hat.

Jane Derby's short evening dress (B) has diagonal layers-on-layers of dusty pink tulle with pink roses caught up in it. A rose too for the one shouldered black satin bodice.

Red chinchilla diagonally buttoned (D) gives the cocoon or bunny hug silhouette. It is a Ben Reig design by Omar Kaim.

Dior uses a periwinkle blue brocade with a black figure for his flounced—and short—dinner dress (E) with velvet strapless top. For late day or theater, it has a jacket.

ALBANY—Georgia Power Company's new $4,000,000 Plant Mitchell stands as a bulwark against Communism and Socialism, Gov. Herman Talmadge said yesterday at the dedication of the big new power-producing unit near here.

The plant is a monument to the courage and initiative of private enterprise, Gov. Talmadge told the 1,000 persons invited to the dedication ceremonies. which preceded a tour of the plant,

It is fitting, he added, that the monument be erected in the district represented by Congressman Eugene Cox, whose fight against Communism and Socialism he lauded. Cox was unable to come from Washington for the ceremonies.

He also paid tribute to W. E. Mitchell, former President of the Georgia Power Company, whose name the plant bears.

It is significant, said the Governor, that the Georgia Power Company has nearly doubled its generating capacity since 1940 to meet the growing industrial needs of Georgia. He said its policy toward its employees has shown that it is possible in a democracy to achieve a stable and mutually rewarding relationship.

Mitchell recalled the growth of the power industry in the South from the time his father, James Mitchell, came from England to build in Alabama with $5,000,000 in British capital the first hydro-electric plant in this area. He said the day has come when massive construction of hydro-electric plants is acceptably a government function. But he said, private enterprise must continue to distribute the power.

C. B. McManus, President of Georgia Power Company, said the Company welcomes Government hydro-electric power developments and stands ready to distribute the power at fair prices. He was toastmaster.

Maurice Tift, representing the Daugherty County Commission, said the establishment of the plant was testimony to the growth of the Albany area.

Present were scores of State political, industrial, financial and agricultural leaders.

Four-Year-Old Blows Bubbles For Health

Joyce Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Whitworth, was operated on for a heart ailment several months ago at Emory University Hospital. After she returned home, a lung congestion developed.

To help her along, they rigged up two glass bottles with tubes and showed Joyce how she could breathe with the tube in her mouth, pulling water from one bottle to the other.

But Joyce soon tired of that "game"—and the bubble blowing scheme was devised.

An ordinary toy bubble pipe was connected by tube to one of the bottles. Now, Joyce sits up in bed, happily blowing bubbles—and, her doctors hope, clearing up that congestion.

Your City Hall

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Although the Atlanta Waterworks produces approximately $3,000,000 annually in revenues, Councilman James E. Jackson, Chairman of Council's Water Committee, yesterday said only approximately $400,000 a year will be listed as profit if a full-scale expansion program is attempted. He cited the fact that schools get 30 percent of the gross receipts, the operational costs exceed $1,000,000 and added if a full 20 percent is drained off for expansions, a net of only "about $400,000 a year will be left." He added the City cannot stand that drain in its present fiscal condition without new revenue sources. The City has charter authority to expend 20 percent of gross receipts for improvements, but it has never exercised it.

Asks Traffic Equipment

Congestion can be relieved and traffic flows speeded through installation of modern traffic control equipment, Karl Bevins, newly elected Traffic Engineer, emphasized yesterday. He pointed specifically to a new installation at Spring and Peachtree Streets, N. W., asserting that traffic is now flowing nearly four times as fast through it as it did previously.

"We must buy future installations so they will work in with an over-all control program," he said. "It may cost a little more at the time, but it will pay dividends in the long haul."

Two Proclamations

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday declared a double observance in absentia. He was in Albany attending the dedication of Plant Mitchell, but Ernest Brewer, his Secretary, released two new proclamations. One sets Monday as United Nations Day in observance of the fourth birthday anniversary of theh organization. The other sets the week beginning tomorrow as smoke abatement week in Atlanta. He reminded citizens to consider the costs of smoke, soot, fly ash and other polluting quantities and to avail themselves of all means to eliminate the nuisances.

At Health Rally

City Health Director James F. Hackney and Health Engineer Stafford W. Graydon left yesterday to attend the annual convention of the American Public Health Association in New York Oct. 24-28. Both were accompanied by their wives.

Acting Mayor Signs

Acting Mayor James E. Jackson yesterday completed signing practically all measures sent to the mayor's desk from Monday's meetings of City Council and the Aldermanic Board. He handled office routine and last night officially represented Atlanta on a flying trip to Birmingham, Ala., where he participated in dedication of a $150,000 high intensity runway lighting system from the airport. Mayor Hartsfield, who was away for the day, is due back at his desk this morning. Jackson is Mayor Pro Tem and serves during Hartsfield's absence or inability to function.

To Lighting Rites

Approximately 50 Atlantans last night flew via Eastern Air Lines Constellation plane to Birmingham to participate in the dedication of a new lighting system for the Birmingham Airport. Civil Aeronautics officials, City and County executives and many private citizens were among the party. The group left at 9:30 a. m. and returned approximately at midnight after being feted as a part of the Alabama City's observance.

On Leave

Mrs. Joyce Flanders, attache to the City Personnel Office, yesterday began a leave of absence. She was entertained by fellow employees on her last day.
